Antioch to ask state officials for solutions

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Village Board passed a resolution that will ask state officials to look into alternative ways to fund Antioch Community High School.

The board passed the resolution 6-0 after another resolution proposed by Trustee Donald Amundsen to support the education fund referendum on the April 20 failed 4-3.

The resolution to support the education fund was proposed by Amundsen after ACHS Board of Education Trustee Larry Petersen gave a brief background presentation on how the board came up the two referendums on the ballot.

After a brief discussion by board, Larry Hanson told the board that he would not vote in favor of the resolution until both sides of the school issue are addressed in front of the board.

"I can not support this at this time," said Hanson. "We have to have both sides represented before we can honestly make an educated decision."

Amundsen, however, continued to press for a vote on the resolution which split the board in half. Antioch Mayor Robert Wilton broke the tie with a no vote because he said the board didn't come to a clear consensus and he would also like to hear the other side of the story.

"The board has the responsibility to pass our opinions on this issue," said Shineflug. "I am for the education fund referendum because this issue affects our village and our kids."

Park board wants a park ranger to prevent vandalism

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Village Board is considering adding a full-time park ranger to patrol the village's parks after dark during the summer months.

The board will study the recommendation by the park board and will make a decision on the position in the near future.

The recommendation for the ranger was brought in front of the board by Park Board Member Jennifer Tabrino.

"Vandalism must be controlled," said Tabrino. "We need additional assistance so that Ted Axton (Centennial Playground cochairman) doesn't have to go personally to the park at night to ensure vandals don't destroy the park."

According to Tabrino, the vandals run through the parks from 3 p.m. to midnight which an increase in activity during the summer months.

"Those parks are for the children to play in and need to be protected," claimed Tabrino.

In addition to the ranger, the Park Board is organizing a neighborhood watch program for the Centennial Park area along Anita St.

Holmes supported by BEST, but not spokesman

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch Community High School District 117 Board of Education candidate Vern Holmes was identified by the Better Education-Sensible as a BEST member and as a private citizen, but not as the spokesman for the group as reported in earlier news stories.

BEST President Alan Knutsen called for the end of Holmes' misidentification as the BEST spokesman in future news stories and correspondence directed to the media from Holmes.

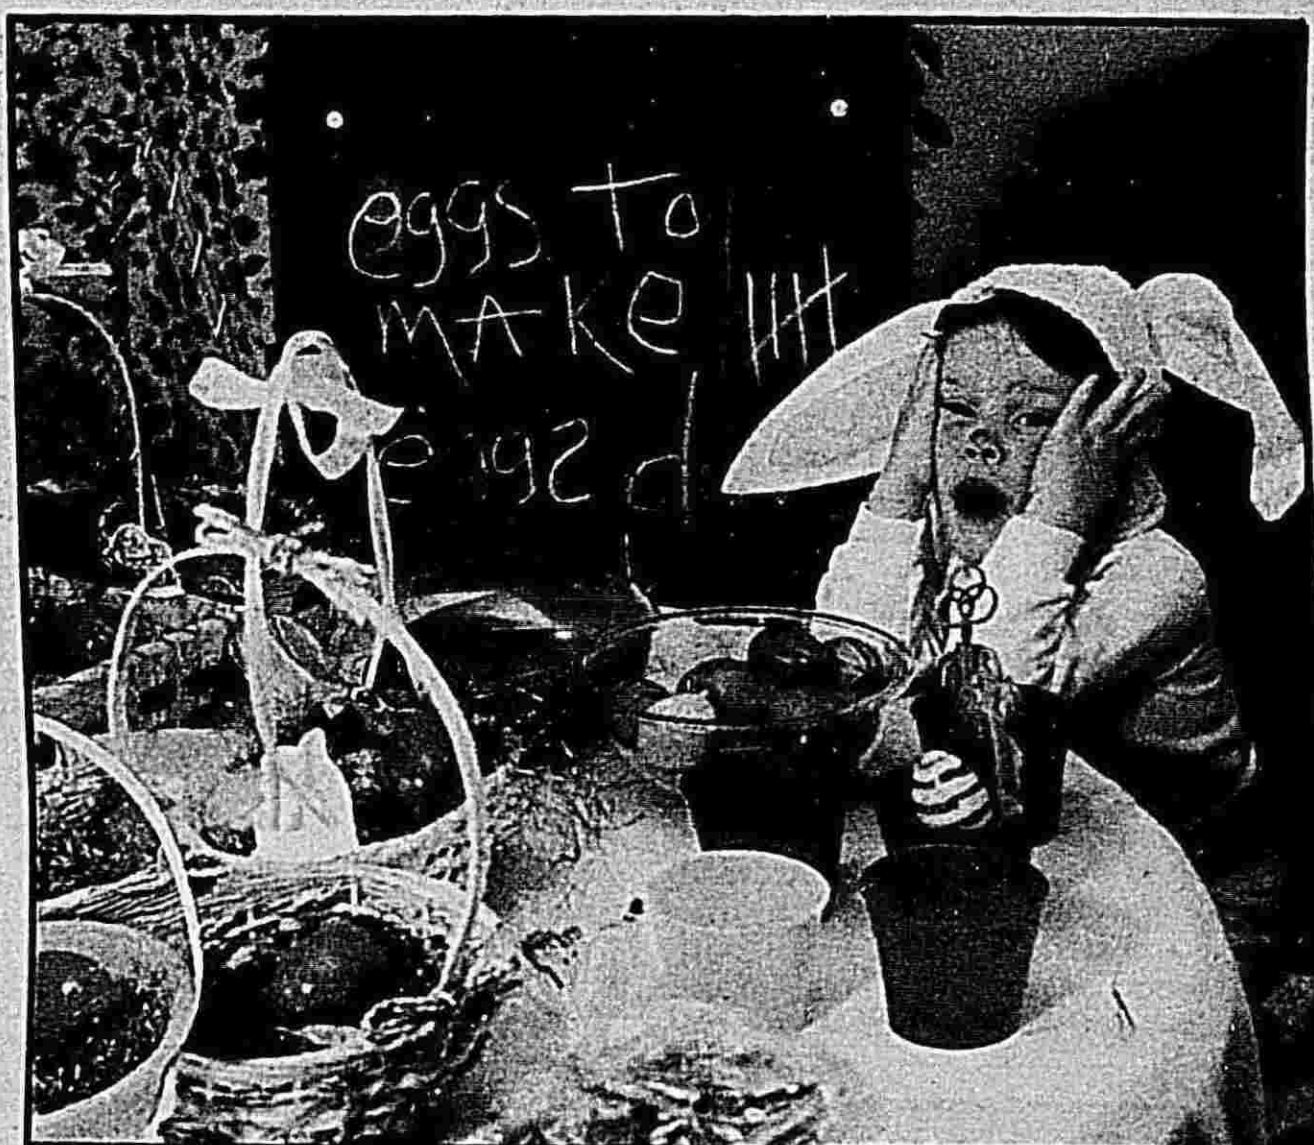

"We just want everyone to know that we (Knutsen and Vice-President Robert Warrender) are the official spokespersons for BEST," said Knutsen.

However, Knutsen still claims Holmes as a member of BEST despite his claims that Holmes comments are just his own and not the voice of the entire BEST membership.

"Vern is a great person and is really concerned about the future of the school," said Knutsen. "But, I just have to make it clear that he is not the spokesman for BEST and his comments are just that."

Holmes said that he never claimed to be the BEST spokesman and that reporters just assumed that he was the spokesman because he was in constant contact with them since the referendum issues resurfaced.

Oh, no!

New homeowners group looks to gain sewer service

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Homeowners of the Lotus Shores subdivision, who formally organized into an association last month, are looking to gain sewer service from the Village of Antioch or some other source.

According to Interim President Toni Wolfard, the Lotus Shores Home and Property Owners Association organized as an association to help increase the chances to get sewer service to their subdivision.

"We want sewer service to our subdivision because more and more of the property owners are now living here year-round," said Wolfard.

However, the Village of Antioch presently has no plans to expand to the west of the village despite the verbal support of Antioch Mayor Robert Wilton and Village Planner Bob Silhan.

"Mayor Wilton and Bob Silhan have been helpful but the village really has no plans to expand out to us," said Wolfard. "However, they gave us some help in finding people who could help us."

That help could come from Antioch Township Supervisor and County Board Member Jim Fields, who proposed a plan that could bring sewers to the area at the cost of $1,500 per home last month.

Wolfard said the Fields' plan drew fire late last month when Supervisor candidate Judy Martini came to a homeowners meeting that was also attended by a Fox Riverboat Limited Partnership representative.

"Judy Martini came to our meeting trying to attack the Riverboat proposal (Continued on page 10)

Masons offer refresher degree

Have you not attended a Masonic lodge in years? Have you felt unable to attend another Blue Lodge, but would like to? Are you afraid that you can't gain admittance because your work is too rusty? Are you afraid that you have forgotten the Pass Words, and the Due-Guards and signs?

The Rusty Nail Degree will be performed Monday, April 19 at 7:30 p.m. at Rising Sun Lodge 115 in Grayslake.

The Rusty Nail Degree is intended to refresh you in all aspects of Masonry. The purpose of the Rusty Nail Degree is to prepare you to pass an examination without embarrassment. The lodge will demonstrate and explain all of the important points of the first three degrees of Freemasonry, which were taught to you in the lessons of the degrees.

At the conclusion of the Rusty Nail Degree, you should have no difficulty in gaining admission to any Masonic lodge anywhere in the United States or abroad.

The third degree will be exemplified in MUFTI, this is a delight to see performed.

Bring your dues card with you. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

For more information contact Tom Davis at 546-7965, L. Pat Clemens at 949-7233 or Fran Pochat at 587-4178.

All Masons are invited to come join in Masonic Fellowship.

Riverboat L.P. won't mar scenery with signs

Howard "Bud" Scott, director of community relations for Fox Riverboat L.P., said his company won't play the sign game.

"Over the last week, signs sprung up along the roadways relating to the April 20 Antioch Township Riverboat referendum vote," Scott said. "These signs urging people to vote 'no' are an unnecessary assault on the area."

"Since Fox Riverboat L.P. is committed to maintaining and protecting the area's environmental integrity, we will not put up any signs relating to the issue," he pledged.

"We know local residents have good judgment and recognize the economic value of our riverboat to the area," Scott said. "It is in the best interest of the area to express your opinion with a 'yes' vote on the April 20 referendum—'Shall Fox Riverboat L.P. be permitted to operate riverboats of the Fox River.'"

"Our riverboat project will create more than 1,400 full-time, equal-opportunity, good-paying jobs, most with full medical benefits," Scott said. "At least 700 more indirect jobs would be created through increased economic activity in the region. In addition, the riverboat should generate $10 million in annual direct tax relief for Lake County that is of benefit to all residents."

Water, sewer rates to decrease by 5 percent

MUNDELEIN—Mundelein residents will see a five percent net reduction in water and sewer rates on their June bills under a proposal approved by trustees as part of the budget process for the coming year. The new rate will go into effect on the June 1 water bill according to Village Clerk Colleen Kasting. The savings is estimated at $21 per year for each resident.

Hawthorn students take first in math

VERNON HILLS—A team of eighth-grade students from Hawthorn Junior High competed with 190 students from 40 schools in the 1993 Illinois State Mathcounts competition, organized by the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers, and captured first place. The team consists of Brad AuBuchon, Mark Barrett, Angela Chiu and Jeremy Seiver. AuBuchon's third place individual score earned him a place on the state team which will represent Illinois in the national Mathcounts competition in Washington, D.C.

Three boys honored for returning check

WAUCONDA—Three seventh grade boys were honored by the Wauconda Village Board for returning a cashier's check to the owner instead of spending the money. Brain Jensen, Brian Murray and Ryan Messamore, residents of the village, found a cashier's check for $237.91 in the parking lot of the Liberty Square shopping center and returned the money to the owner, Jay Wasilas of J&L Landscaping.

Police find pair of fetuses in glove box

INGLESIDE—Acting on an anonymous tip, the Lake County Sheriff's Department found two human fetuses in the glove compartment of a vehicle parked at a Lake Shore Drive residence in Ingleside Wednesday morning. Sheriff's Lt. Chet Iwan said the vehicle belongs to a friend of the alleged mother. He said the pair were planning to bury the fetuses, which had reached approximately 10 weeks of development. Charges have not been filed, pending an investigation and the direction of the State's Attorney. "Right now, a lot is contingent upon medical records," Iwan said. No names had been released.

Motions for attempted murder heard April 12

WAUCONDA—Daniel Serbedzija will head to trial towards the end of April for allegedly stabbing his wife in the neck on Dec. 10, 1992. Serbedzija's lawyer, Joseph Waldeck, went before Judge Charles Scott Tuesday, saying Serbedzija was unfit to stand trial, meaning he does not understand the charges brought against him, or he cannot cooperate with his lawyer. Serbedzija is not pleading insanity. Scott found the defendant fit to stand trial, but postponed other motions to Tuesday, April 12 at 1:30 p.m.

Candidate is dropped by Shields Twp. slate

NORTH CHICAGO—Beatrice Coleman, a Shields Twp. trustee candidate, is claiming foul and stopped within an eyelash of charging four trustee candidates with racism. Coleman, who filed for the township trustee race, said she's been dropped by the other candidates and was forced to run as an independent candidate.

Resident left standing on an island, his home

LIBERTYVILLE—Residents in the North Libertyville Estates subdivision encountered flooding last week. Many residents attempted to halt the water piling sandbags, but Mark Keske 16299 Des Plaines Drive said it was not beneficial to wait it out. The Des Plaines River, about 180 feet from the back home, flooded up to the back porch, swirled around the home about 100 feet from the front, Keske said. Despite estimated $4,000 worth of building materials that are lost from the home, Keske said he will not move.

Graduated income tax may be help Dist. 187

LIBERTYVILLE—As North Chicago's fight is diminishing, contiguous districts continue the battle for state and federal interdiction for long term solutions. One possible solution has been introduced by the team of the Coalition for Educational Rights and the League of Women Voters, that of a graduated income tax. Oak Grove Dist. 68 Superintendent Patrick Patt joined arms with the organizations to express his support in the suggestion. Dr. Donald Gossett, Libertyville School Dist. 128 superintendent, said he agreed with the implementation of a graduated income tax with one condition: it must be coupled with property tax relief. There are about 100 school districts on the state watch list for schools that are in financial difficulty. North Chicago School Dist. 187 was one of those, but voted March 22 to dissolve.

Gang Suppression Unit hits the streets

MUNDELEIN—Following two incidents of gang graffiti damage to Mundelein buildings, the Mundelein Police Department's Gang Suppression Unit took to the streets Tuesday night to send a message of no tolerance to gang activity. The operation led to the filing of a juvenile referral for a 13-year-old male for his part in vandalism discovered on a building located at 614 S. Lake Street, April 1. Police are hoping information they gathered during the selected enforcement period will lead to the arrest of individuals for gang graffiti damage to Harbor Pointe Condominiums, which are under construction near the intersection of Diamond Lake Road and Route 45. That damage, estimated at $7,500, was reported April 5.

Stop Stealing Signs

All workers for Judy Martini were told in the beginning not to touch any other candidates' signs once they've been put up. Crashing or stealing signs will not win an election. I'm calling Lipservice to tell the thugs who have stolen Judy Martini's signs up and down Rte. 173 not to do it again. You must not realize the cost of lumber, printing of signs and the labor of putting them together and putting them up. Let's be honest campaign workers, not thieves and thugs.

Congratulations eighth- and ninth-grade iceless hockey team, the Jets. You took first place in your division and placed second overall. What a great job. You guys never gave up. You guys are the best. Thanks, coaches, for the great coaching and enthusiasm. Jets, you're the best.

Unfair And Unjust

Thanks to Lipservice, I am often reading the opinions of those whom we could possibly call the silent majority. Those are the people who the media usually tend not to voice. A hot issue seems to be education and its escalating cost. We all want quality education. As for the comments comparing the North Chicago schools with prisons and labeling the kids as bad apples. No. 2: Why should the voters increase their own taxes, build a new school and/or remodel the old one and increase the education fund when it's said that Lake Villa, Antioch and Gurnee will be getting North Chicago kids. Let's just say what it is. Deep down, people don't want those North Chicago kids in their schools.

Anybody Know?

I have heard a couple of people say that the riverboat people in Antioch Twp. made an offer that the school board rejected. I heard that the offer was if the riverboat got its license, they'd build the town a new school. Does anybody know anything about this?

Support Library

I'm on a fixed income and feel that I must support the Lake Villa library referendum. The addition is needed and it will never cost less than now. If we put it off even one more year, it will most likely cost more.

I'm glad to hear that an Antioch police officer was acquitted on charges made by an Antioch woman back in 1986. Strange, names are always listed, but in this case, the name was not. This must be an important person in Antioch or a political person.

Easing Your Tax Burden

Begin planning for next year now

Preventive maintenance is known to be good for your house and car, and it is also a good idea for arranging tax matters. Instead of waiting until late in the year, here are a few things you can do on a year round basis to make your taxes less taxing:

- Start a tax file now. Use a large envelope, but you should use whatever system works for you. Keep such records as what you give to charity, medical bills, and other possible deductions. Keep a record of estimated tax payments.

Also, keep tabs of such unusual income as lottery and gambling winnings. Remember, there is no substitute for good tax records.

- Keep a list of your employers during the year. If you quit a job, keep that last pay stub. It should include all the information you need for your tax return.

- If you move, don't forget to notify former employers, financial institutions and others, including the IRS, who will be sending you tax information for 1993.

- If you get married during 1993 and change your name, you should correct your records with the Social Security Administration. This will prevent a mis-match of names and social security numbers when you file next year.

- If you are a working parent and have a child in day care or have baby sitting expenses, make sure you keep a record of the provider's name, address and social security number. You will need this information to claim the Child Care Credit for 1993.

- You will need the social security number for every dependent you claim over one year old. If your child is born in 1993, why not get the number immediately. Most Illinois hospitals can help you. If you are already home and need to apply for your child's social security number, call our forms office at 1 (800)-829-3676 and they will mail you a Form SS-5 which is used to apply for a social security number.

- If you were eligible for the Earned Income Credit in 1992, check with your employer to see if you might receive Advanced Earned Income Credit in your pay check during 1993.

- Finally, don't forget to keep a copy of your return, as well as the records which support it. You will need it if you are getting a mortgage, refinancing, or seeking financial aid for your college children. It takes the IRS over a month to get a duplicate copy to you. Every year thousands of people forget and come to the IRS offices for a copy. Hopefully, through these tips, filing your 1992

Hospice program assists families cope with death

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When Nancy Tracy was told she would head the Hospice program at Condell Medical Center, she was expecting about 15 referrals.

"Our first year, we had 74. The need has been a great need," Tracy, an RN, said.

Hospice, with the aid of 28 trained volunteers, helps families cope with the tragedy of a death in the family.

'We want to be professional so people can be honest about their feelings.'

— Nancy Tracy

"Death is a universal fact of life and, whether or not it is accompanied by disease, dying is a normal process. We believe that every person is entitled to participate fully in this part of life in order to prepare for death in a way that is personally satisfactory. Hospice exists as an option in the medical care system, not to postpone death, but with special skills and therapies, to help the patient and family live as fully as possible. Death is not denied, but life is confirmed and lived until death comes," is the mission statement from the National Hospice Organization, adopted 15 years ago.

"We want to be professional so people can be honest about their feelings," Tracy told the Grayslake Exchange Club.

Tracy herself knows the importance of Hospice as her 26-year-old sister died. "The most important thing for Joanie was the touch of the nurse as she combed her hair and held her hand before she died," Tracy said.

Tracy had high praise for the efforts of the volunteers. The volunteers come from all walks of life, including people who hope to make social work their profession. In most cases, one volunteer is assigned one patient. The program started with eight volunteers. In the past year, only one has left. Hospice is a free service.

Tracy and-or her volunteers always attend the wakes and offer a grievance program for family members. "Usually it is for a year, but we do go beyond that," Tracy said.

The day before the club meeting last week, a 36-year-old died and he had four young children. "I made calls for him and saw to it the children received the services they need. We will work closely with his family," Tracy said.

The Hospice program also benefits those presently giving care. For example, a 97-year-old's care giver gets a rest when Hospice volunteers come.

"It is so rewarding. The person in need of care gets a rest and the patient develops a friendship," Tracy said.

The Hospice program, operated out of the medical center in Libertyville, serves Winchester House. "Our volunteers are very devoted to Winchester House patients. You find you do have an attachment," Tracy said.

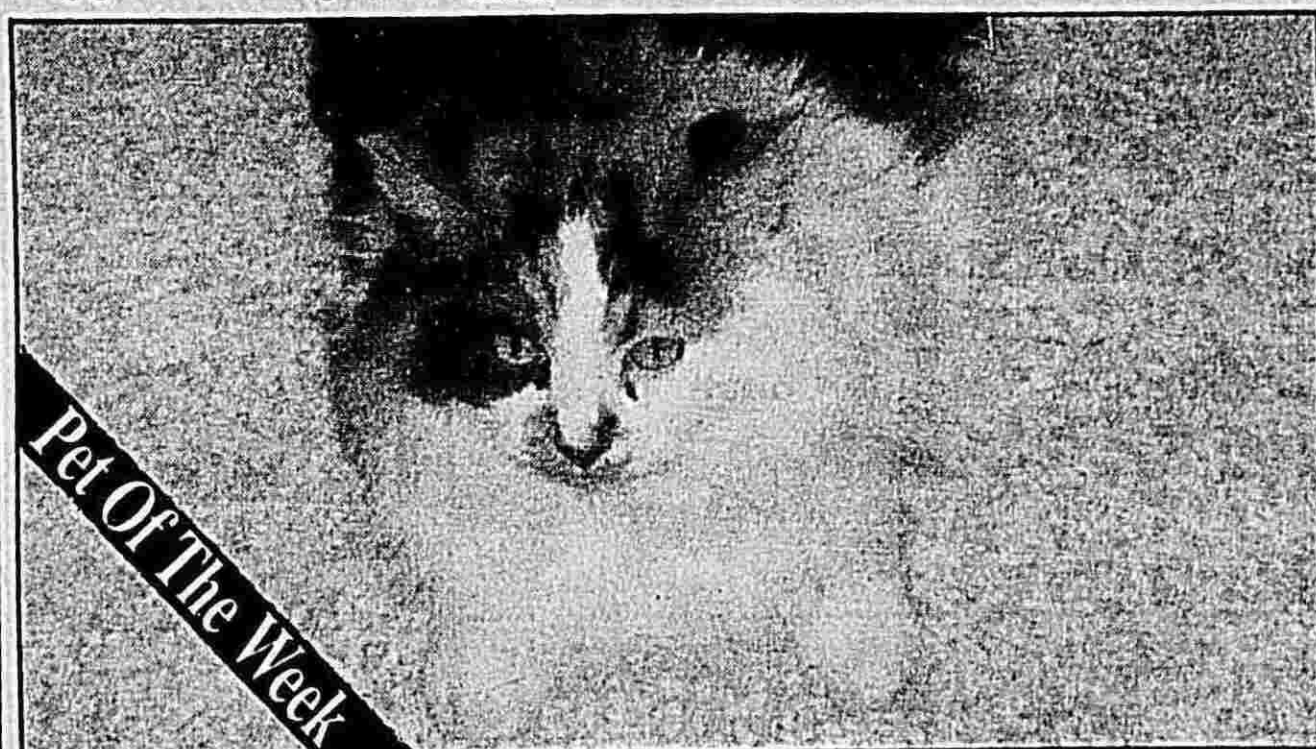

Volunteers meet twice a month to discuss their feelings and needs.

Antioch named Tree City USA for 1993

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

The Village of Antioch received national recognition as it was named a Tree City USA for 1993. This is the first time the village received this honor.

"The Tree City USA honor comes from the National Arbor Day Foundation, a nonprofit educational organization dedicated to tree planting and environmental stewardship," said Antioch Trustee Marilyn Shineflug.

Tree City USA communities receive a flag with the program's logo and a walnut-mounted plaque, according to Al Little, the Environmental Commission Chairman and Co-Chairman of the Arbor Day Committee. Winners will also receive Tree City USA community signs and maple leaf stickers to indicate additional qualifying years.

"Antioch qualified for the honor after meeting the following standards: a village tree ordinance, a legal tree governing body, a comprehensive forestry program and observance of Arbor Day," said Bud Newton, co-chairman of the Antioch Arbor Day Committee.

Antioch received its flag at the village board meeting on April 5 at 7 p.m.

"A community's tree planting program is a living memorial to citizens' concern for the quality of life," said Little. "The trees we plant and care for today will cool our cities, fight pollution, conserve energy, and give wildlife a home for years to come."

Antioch will observe Arbor Day on April 24 when area school children and volunteers will be planting trees in Osmond Park.

"We will again give away 1,500 free evergreen seedlings, up to five per person, to any Antioch residents that agree to plant and care for them," said Little.

To order your free seedlings, write to Al Little, Arbor Day Committee, PO Box 288, Antioch, Ill., 60002 or call 395-2160.

ABC proposes improved communication

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

The A Better Community offers a plan to improve communication between village citizens and village officials in an effort to give residents a greater voice in village government.

"Improving communication between citizens and village officials is one of the ABC party's major goals," said ABC Party Mayoral candidate Marilyn Shineflug.

Shineflug added that she was elected to the Village Board four years ago on a platform of open communication.

"During the last four years, I personally have sent two surveys and six newsletters to voters. If elected Mayor, I will continue to improve communication between citizens, village officials and village employees," said Shineflug.

Shineflug said she will offer fixed office hours for the mayor's office and will set up a suggestion box to receive messages for the mayor after office hours.

"I look forward to working with village employees on a daily basis to share the work that needs to be done," said Shineflug.

Shineflug added that she will not work full-time at her current job as an insurance agent if elected mayor.

Another communications improvement will be the formation of a village newsletter that would be used to inform village residents and could be used as a survey if needed, said Shineflug.

"Personal participation by a mayor is extremely important in building strong ties to other communities, the County, and the State," said Shineflug. "If elected, I will personally represent Antioch in the Lake County and Illinois Municipal Leagues."

Shineflug feels that leadership is based on trust, combined with an uplifting attitude, to create positive change and smooth transition.

"It is these relationships which tie us together and allows us to build a strong sense of community to make Antioch 'A Better Community,'" said Shineflug.

SWAT Party offers its platform on village issues

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

The Start Working for Antioch's Tomorrow party released the party's platform and positions on village issues and offered its plans to combat politics as usual.

SWAT Mayoral candidate Larry Hanson, along with Trustee candidates Kathy Allen, Ed Koziorowski, and Vince Lightfoot offered these views on the issues that face Antioch's tomorrow.

SWAT, according to Hanson, is against rapid growth, installation of high power lines, development of more apartments in the village and riverboat gambling as it is presently proposed.

However, SWAT is for open and honest government, holding the line of village property taxes, increased accountability of village personnel, implementation of professional management techniques for budgeting, long range planning and personnel decisions, regional planning for controlled development at reasonable densities, and the promotion of industry growth and jobs.

"We really want to work for the residents of Antioch," said Hanson. "The SWAT party is committed to greater citizen involvement in local government issues."

Lizard encourages all to get out and vote

Time to vote

Once again Antioch area residents will be going to the polls to vote for issues and candidates of their choice. One of the big issues that will be on the ballot in the April 20 election is the Riverboat Casino. A referendum will be on the ballot indicating the voice of the people on this issue.

As I understand it, the referendum will not have the power to decide it, but it will give strong direction as to how the majority of people feel about Riverboat gambling coming to our area. It is not my intention to take sides on this issue via "Hometown Goodies."

However, I will definitely be casting my vote on this and other issues and for candidates of my choice in the April 20 election. I encourage you to do the same. Please remember your vote is your voice. In order to be heard you must go to the polls.

"Same Time Next Year" is the next scheduled production at the PM&L Theatre located on Main St. in downtown Antioch. The show dates are April 16, 17, 18, 23, 24, 25, 30 and May 1 and 2. Evening performances are at 8:00 p.m. and Sunday matinee performances are at 2:30 p.m.

On April 24 there will be both a matinee and evening performance. Seating at the PM&L is limited so reservations are a must and can be made by calling 395-3055. The PM&L Theatre was recently a recipient of a state grant that will allow the Theatre to be expanded and improved.

The scheduled production for June is "Let's Get a Divorce," and July's performance will be "Best Little Whorehouse in Texas."

Absent-minded

The following blooper is yet one more reminder why I do not and should not drive. For the record, I do have a drivers license. Also for the record, my self-imposed driving territory is from my home on up to the highway and back.

Many mornings I do drive Jim, Jr. up to the high school bus pick-up point, which is obviously within my territory or he would be hoofing it. Normally, on the trip up and back I go slow and am constantly reminding myself to watch the road, nothing like being slightly insecure. As I approached the turn around point of the morning trip, Jim asked me a question.

The following is living proof that the good Lord gave me a brain that can handle only one task at a time. As I was answering his question and also negotiating my turn, I forgot to stop and let him out. Luckily, he noticed I was heading back home with him still abroad. When he exclaimed, "Mother!" I replied, "Yes?" Still not realizing I forgot to unload my cargo. He then asked, "Aren't you going to stop and let me out?" Good idea, since that was the reason I was out on the road. OOPS!

More

I naturally laughed all the way home and immediately called my dear friend "Sylvia from the City."

After I related my absent-minded blooper to her, she had a few comments and questions on the subject. First she asked, "What were you thinking?" Did you think you were taking an early morning drive for exercise rather than an early morning jog?" Then she said, "If Jimmy would have played his cards right, he could have gotten an extra day off of school." I inquired, "How so?" She said, "If he would have sat quietly and let me bring him all the way back home, he could have gotten out of the car, thanked me for picking him up at the bus stop and told me he had a nice day at school and then retired to his room to do his homework!"

We enjoyed a few other versions of possible blooper aftermath, laughed as usual, and I then excused myself because I felt a column coming on!

Good combination

Realizing more and more that while people are unique and different in many ways, I also know we are often very similar in our likes and dislikes, in our actions and reactions and in our hopes and our dreams. Keeping all of this in mind, I found myself recalling my school days and my thirst for knowledge or actually lack thereof, to my present desire to learn about and understand different things.

I decided to share the following with you as I am sure many of you will relate to what I am remembering and writing here. I know I learned many things back then. I learned to read and write, I learned to add, subtract, multiply and divide, I learned to spell, I learned rules in grammar (most of which I have forgotten), I enjoyed sentence diagramming with a passion, I learned about God and the church, and I even learned a little about history and geography (oh how I hated those two subjects.)

What I can't remember is ever feeling a compelling desire to learn. I never remembered thinking my life would be complete if I learned any or all of these things. I took piano lessons for six years. This was different. I had the desire to learn and made a definite decision to study piano music. So I learned. This seems logical to me.

However, it remains a mystery as to how those teachers (nuns) poured all that knowledge into a head that never actually made the decision to want it there. It was easy for me to learn and to retain facts back then.

Now I do have the desire to learn and I often do so by reading and listening to tapes. However, it is now more difficult to learn certain things and as for retaining facts, forget it. If only educators could bottle the desire to learn that may only come with age and add that to a child's unique ability to absorb and learn the combination could have the potential to revolutionize education. I do remember liking school. How about you?

I can't say I liked it for the knowledge available there. I liked it because I enjoyed being with my friends and even my teachers whom I knew cared. Maybe that was half the battle. Maybe the enjoyment of being there made it possible for my brain to absorb the knowledge that was laid before me. Food for thought?

Antioch Junior Women's Club members tutor AGS students

In a token of goodwill, two members of the Antioch Junior Women's Club have tutored two Antioch Grade School second graders since September 1992.

Laurie Stahl and Faye Andersen began tutoring Payal Patal and Oksana Hawryluk when the girls had trouble speaking and understanding English.

The women, along with other Women's Club volunteers, arrived at the school and spent an hour each day with the girls using flashcards, games and workbooks to improve their English skills.

skills.

"The individual attention has improved the girl's vocabulary and communication skills and has created special friendships along the way," said Cindy Baba, spokeswoman for the club.

The next meeting of the Antioch Junior Women's Club is April 13 at 7 p.m. at St. Stephen's Lutheran Church in Antioch. The guest speaker is Pat Broggi from the Children's Research Foundation. For more information regarding club membership, call 395-3152.

NASA launch coincides with area school space simulations

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

The annual space simulation missions that numerous area school participate in, through the help of the Lake County Business Industry Education Consortium, will this year coincide with an actual NASA shuttle launch on April 29.

According to Jerry Gudauskas, LCBIEC's executive director and the space simulation project coordinator for Lake County schools, the launch and mission of Endeavor on April 29 will coincide with the Lake County EBIEC's student space simulation activities from May 3-7. During the nine days that the shuttle is in orbit, a 24-hour schedule will be maintained.

"Like the real astronauts, the student astronauts will be doing experiments and communicating with other space stations," said Gudauskas.

The students will also get the chance to speak with NASA Astronaut Janice Voss, who worked with the students last May during "Space Habitat Rendezvous" at the Lake County Fairgrounds, during her mission aboard the orbiter by amateur radio.

The American Radio Relay League, in cooperation with the Johnson Space Center in Houston, will provide the voice communications link between the shuttle Endeavor and each school's individual shuttle simulator by Space Amateur Radio Experiments.

The main operational radio base will be in Waukegan where amateur radio tracking antennas are set up. Local "Ham" operators will be assisting with the project and many more are needed.

Participating in the program are Allendale (Lake Villa), Emmons and Grass Lake Schools (Antioch), and A.J. Katzenmaier, Novak-King and North Chicago High School (North Chicago). For more information on the mission, contact Jerry Gudauskas at 223-6681.

Rotary Club offers college scholarships to ACHS grads

The Antioch Rotary Club is continuing to give college scholarships to ACHS graduating seniors who intend to enroll in school this fall.

To qualify for the numerous scholarships awarded by the Rotary Club, students must either be seeking an associates degree in a two-year program, seeking a four-year degree from a university or four-year college, but plan to first enroll in a community college, or are seeking a bachelors' degree from a four-year college or university.

"Although the number and amount of the scholarships vary annually," said Ted Axton, chairman of the scholarship committee. "For the 1992 school year, we awarded 12 scholarships totaling $10,050."

Axton said the criteria for determining scholarship recipients is based on financial need of the applicant, academic achievement, and extra curricular activities.

Applicants need to fill out the ACHS Standard Local Scholarship Application, along with a short form addendum, and return it to the ACHS College Career Center. Copies of the Rotary Scholarship applicants will be submitted to the Rotary Scholarship Committee after the ACHS Guidance Office assigns a number to each student's application, so that the decision can be made without knowing the student's names.

Scholarship finalists, according to Axton, will probably be interviewed at ACHS during the school day.

Scholarship recipients will be invited and expected to attend a Rotary Club luncheon in the Spring of 1993, and to schedule follow-up visits to the Club meeting when they return to the area.

Further questions about the scholarship, according to Axton, can be answered by contacting the ACHS Guidance Office.

Part of the Total Picture - Antioch Community High School is Out of Space.

In 1992 the Citizens' Advisory Council, compiled enrollment projections for the Antioch Community High School. The projection is understated. After the figures were release, additional sub divisions were approved, new industries purchased land in the area, and it was announced a commuter train line will run through Antioch and Lake Villa.

Why I will vote to raise my taxes on April 20th.

If we start building today, the construction will be completed in the Fall 1995 when the projected enrollment will be over 2000.

Amundsen then issued his comments on the school funding issue.

"Whether or not you are for the referendums, people should be writing our government officials and ask them 'What the hell are you doing?'," said Amundsen. "These people are personally responsible for the situation ACHS is in."

Amundsen added that the referendums are just a temporary fix and a long term solution needs to be found.

Hanson agreed. "We should be going after the legislature, not the voters to solve this problem," said Hanson.

State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis, State Representative Robert Churchill and Governor Jim Edgar will be receiving the Village's letter during the next few weeks, according to village officials.

and the present Antioch Township Supervisor," said Wolfard. "We just had the FRLP there as a potential neighbor and how they may fit in to bringing sewer to the area."

Wolfard added that the FRLP presently plans to use temporary holding tanks that would have to be emptied every night and a sewer line would be attractive to them as well.

Another possibility, according to Wolfard, is the formation of a Village of West Antioch in the next few years.

"It is a real possibility," said Wolfard. "We want sewers to our area and no option to get them will be overlooked."

Area materials company to celebrate Earth Day

Antioch materials company Tuscarora Inc., wants area residents to add foam recycling to their spring cleaning chores and drop off their expanded polystyrene white foam packaging and "peanuts" as part of an Earth Day recycling program on April 22.

The recycling event will occur from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the company's Antioch facility at 181 Ida Avenue and is part of a yearlong, permanent program at Tuscarora.

"Our participation in the special Earth Day recycling program give us an opportunity to educate consumers and businesses about EPS recycling," said Brian LaCourse of Tuscarora. "As a manufacturer of EPS foam packaging, we want people to know the EPS is being recycled throughout the year."

The foam collected will be ground up and added to new material to manufacture new packaging.

Retired ACHS English chair dies of heart attack

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Retired Antioch Community High School English Department Chairman James Corrigan died of an apparent heart attack on April 6 in his Lake Villa home.

Corrigan, 64, was born Jan. 30, 1929 in Maywood, Ill. He graduated from Michigan State University and received his Masters Degree in English from Notre Dame University.

Corrigan began his teaching career at the then called Lake Villa Grade School before moving to ACHS's English Department where he taught for 29 years before retiring in 1990.

Survivors include his wife Carol Moll, a son Robert Moll of Round Lake, a sister Helen Corrigan of Bristol, Wis., and a grandchild Robert Moll. Funeral services were held April 9 at 10 a.m. at the Strang Funeral Home in Antioch.

The Citizens Against UnSafe Electricity is co-sponsoring a fund raiser on April 24 at 8 p.m. at the Antioch VFW Hall that will include some "Hot" entertainment.

Churchill, and County Board Member Suzi Schmidt.

Tickets are $10 per person and will be available at the door or at these locations: The Red Noodle in Round Lake, Inspired Hair Salon in Lindenhurst, and the Loon Lakes Inn in Antioch.

Martini to hear seniors' call

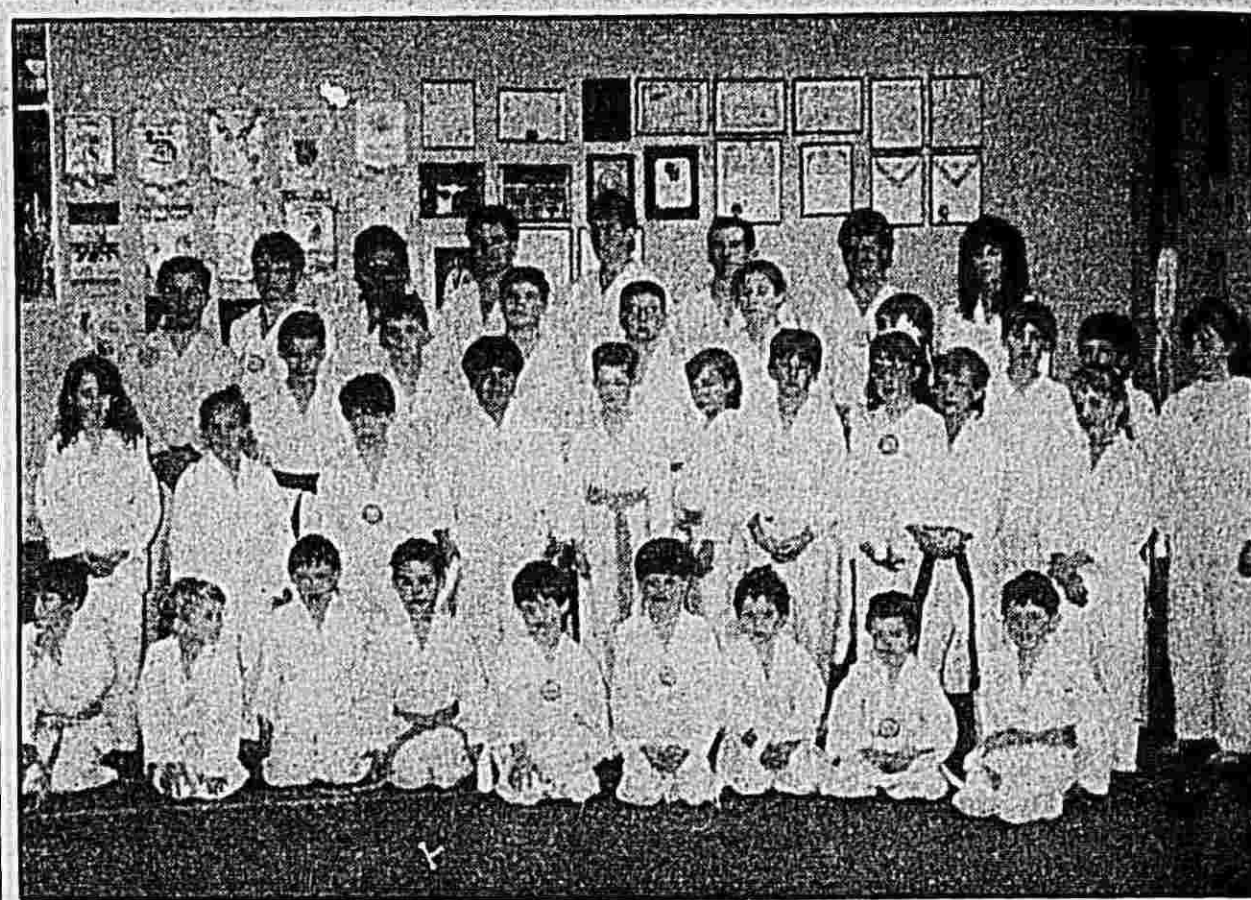

Antioch Township Supervisor Candidate Judy Martini, who asked seniors what they want during a survey conducted by her, plans to form a senior citizens committee to inform the township of their concerns.

Martini said if she is elected, the senior citizens committee would be formed and used as a voice for the seniors in the township.

"This will be a way for seniors to tell township government how they feel about their services," said Martini.

The service, according to Martini, will not cost the tax payers money and will give the seniors a voice in government.

"I see a real need for this service," said Martini. "Many of our seniors are on fixed budgets and they need a voice in government decisions that effect them."

Question's 'bridge'

The Antioch High School building is overcrowded; this is not in question. What is in question is the way in which to solve the overcrowding.

As an educator myself, I recognize that the optimum solution would have been to have built a new four year high school at the Polley Field site. Had that referendum passed the first time, it is likely that the incoming freshman class would be entering that new building in fall (and, due to rising inflation and construction costs, for very little more than is currently being proposed for a two year building).

The voters, however, rejected that proposal twice, and the school board is now proposing this alternate.

Mr. Holmes, who is not anyone's publicity elected representative, has suggested that a third and fourth floor could be constructed—at a cost of $5 million—by "bridging" them over the west end of the building. I have not seen any data to support his $5 million projection. Has anyone? Do these figures include the necessary renovations and condemnations in the older parts of the current building? Do they answer the needs of a cafeteria and a library which are designed for half the projected student enrollment? Do they address the problem of an antiquated heating system?

None of these questions have been answered.

Ask Holmes

Editor:

It must be election time again. Ted C. Axton, ACHS board member, has done his "civic" duty by personally attacking a member of the opposition. His attacks are expected each time a Dist. 117 referendum is on the ballot.

I have a problem with Axton's credibility. Axton is on the board that mismanaged Dist. 117's education fund from a opportunity $1 million surplus two years ago, to a $2 million deficit at the end of this fiscal year, June 30. That is a $3 million swing over a three year period. He was also part of the decision to place the present building referendum on the ballot and after the third try, this board and Axton still have not got it right.

Rather than criticize, Mr. Axton, I suggest you clean up your act and listen to the community and its voters. By the way, Holmes has more knowledge about Dist. 117 problems than several Dist. 117 board members I know and he does have innovative ideas to solve the building and education fund deficit crisis. Why don't you ask him, Axton?

SHARE/food stretches area grocery budgets

Making those food dollars stretch is always a challenge. But the SHARE/Food program sponsored locally by the Antioch Exchange Club can help food dollars go a long way.

SHARE/Food members pay $15 per month and two hours of volunteer time. In exchange they get a well-balanced package of food worth more than $40. The package typically contains several types of meat, various vegetables, fruits, plus staples such as pasta, rice and cereals. The food is high-quality and brand name and the package also contains a newsletter with recipes and meal plans.

SHARE/Food is not a government subsidized program and anyone, regardless of economic status, can join. Members pay their $15 and commit to two hours a month of volunteer service. The volunteer hours can be spent helping package and distribute the Share/Food packages.

To sign up for this program, bring their money to one of the following locations by 1 p.m. April 10: State Bank of Antioch, First National Bank of Antioch, Lake Villa Township Office, and the State Bank of Antioch Lindenhurst Facility.

Fireworks raffle to defray July 4 celebration begins

With Antioch's July 4th celebration rapidly approaching, "The Rockets Red Glare" raffle sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce will give one lucky winner $5,000 and help defray the cost of the weekend celebration.

The raffle tickets cost $5 and only 2,000 will be sold and a few still remain. Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce, 1st National Bank of Antioch, 1st Chicago Bank of Antioch and various other locations throughout the village. The remaining $5,000 collected from the sale of the raffle tickets will go directly pay part of the costs of the celebration.

According to July 4 Committee Chairman Claude LeMere, the celebration will begin on July 3 at 9:30 a.m. with pre-parade entertainment on Main Street, followed by the parade at 10 a.m. Immediately after the parade, a fun fair for kids of all ages is planned at Williams Park. There will be games, sack races, three legged races, pony rides, petting zoo, clowns, and refreshments.

The celebration will continue on July 4 at Williams Park when the village will host its second annual sports tournament. Tournaments for baseball, basketball, volleyball, and horseshoes will be conducted. A dunk tank, fishing casting contest, bell ring, apple pie baking contest, a tug-o-war between the Antioch Lions Club and Antioch Rescue Squad, Fire Department water fights, bingo, entertainment by the Lakes Area Community Band, Grease Band, and P.M. & L. performances will keep everyone entertained.

The weekend will conclude with another of Antioch's world-famous fireworks displays. Delicious food and refreshments will be provided by the Antioch Lions Club.

"The weekend's celebration has the single purpose to enhance patriotism and celebrate our nation's birthday with the upmost of respect and dignity while we aid in the preservation of Antioch as a friendly, family oriented rural American community rich in tradition," said LeMere.

Agency, pollution board mull water-quality rules

"I only wish we could have had this meeting years ago," said Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Director Roy Gundelach after a meeting with members of the Illinois Pollution Control Board.

Engineer Karen Kabbes, the new executive director of the agency, led a delegation to meet with the board for a two-hour session in Chicago April 1.

The major hurdle facing any substantial dredging and restoration projects in the Fox River and the Chain involves the lack of specific effluent water standards for dredging in the state. Lacking specific standards, the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency uses suspended solid criteria established for wastewater treatment plants. The criteria require the water be discharged at nearly drinking water quality. Most states use numbers that basically require the water going back into the system after dredging should be at least as good as what was there in the first place.

"As a well-driller, I'm also very concerned about the quality of the water," stated agency Director Wayne Blake. "What we're trying to do will ultimately improve the water quality of the lakes and river."

The Illinois Pollution Control Board members, who ultimately decide the states water-quality rules, were supportive in concept and outlined the steps necessary to have new dredging rules established.

Dr. William Dam, agency chairman, also met with Lt. Col. David Reed, commander of the Chicago Army Corps of Engineers. Reed offered the technical staff support of his agency to assist in drafting the new criteria and filing the petition.

"This could save us hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly," said Dam, "and make it possible to reverse the deterioration of the system."

Each year an estimated 100,000 cubic yards of silt are deposited into the lakes from the 800-square-mile Wisconsin watershed that feeds into the Fox River.

Discouraging criticism

Editor:

I take exception to your recent "Viewpoint" on school leaders. I consider myself a "mild manner parent" who has spent the last 10 years volunteering my services on school boards at the elementary and high school level.

I am proud of each member of the Antioch Community High School Board for their dedication and countless hours of volunteer service. I know from working with these people that they are dedicated to serving the best interest in both the students and taxpayers of our district. We are always willing to answer questions and take suggestions from the public. We believe in working with the people we serve.

It is people like you, who pass judgment without getting the facts, that discourage hardworking citizens from public service. Confrontation instead of cooperation will only hurt public education and destroy our children's future.

Hurtful division

Editor:

I am a taxpayer and agree with the Wauconda School Dist. 118 referendum to build a new K through five school. Unfortunately, some people in the community don't agree with its location.

The issue is not Wauconda vs Island Lake, the issue is the tax payers responsibility to provide safe and quality education to all children included in the district. The district has been given 12 acres of land free of cost in Island Lake.

The location reflects the needs for the west side of the district. It hurts me to see a community divided by lines between towns when the only lines that should be important are the ones that make up our boundaries for Dist. 118 and make us one community united.

School board listening

Editor:

Confusing the public about Libertyville High School (LHS) is not helpful. Let's set some things straight.

Did rejecting November's referendum make absorption of North Chicago's students impossible? I fail to understand how. In fact, this may have created an opening for North Chicago to request consolidation with LHS. North Chicago High School has excess capacity which could reduce or eliminate LHS's need to construct. Of course, LHS students would be bused to North Chicago to make this work.

LHS cannot afford to lose the Conway Farms Development property. The public needs to monitor Lake Forest's attempt to grab this land. This issue has little if anything to do with LHS's building needs.

It is hardly certain Vernon Hills will ever have enough high school age populace to make their own school economically feasible. The public soundly rejected this one year ago, and (if asked) they will do so time and time again due to the high cost.

LHS's board has watched the Conway Farms situation for at least two years. Superintendent Gossett has even asked citizens to stand by to act at the appropriate time. Until last week, the board could do nothing about North Chicago. Now they (i.e. you) can start paying the lawyers. To accuse the board of ignoring these issues is undeserved criticism.

To say the LHS board should be more honest with the public is unfair. They are not perfect, but they are more open and listen better than most governing bodies.

Establish base school

Editor:

I find it ironic that affluent Libertyville Township is applying for a federal grant to begin developing trails, parking lots and latrines. This they want to add to the national debt.

Meanwhile, the school system in North Chicago is out of money.

Why can't Congressmen Porter and Crane come to the aid of these schools? The government could educate military dependents at the base, as is done in foreign countries. The two Congressmen could also help by pressing Congress and the Senate to eliminate half of their staffs and pledge to give the money wasted on bureaucrats to North Chicago and other suffering school districts. Think of the headlines they'd get all over the country.

Somehow priorities in Washington are askew. Give grants for latrines, trails and parking lots for the wealthy, while schools in poor neighborhoods go broke.

Swank overstates claim

2,500 acre Oak Prairie Reserve in Libertyville and Warren Township. Swank's math leaves a lot to be desired. The public owned open space is only 939 acres. Swank can claim leadership in only 72 acres of that total, which he purchased without appraisals and paid exorbitant prices.

A couple of large land owners have placed 50 year covenants on their property, which is less than 300 acres. Illinois law, however, limits such covenants to 40 years and even those can be challenged in court. Nine hundred plus 300 1,200 acres—typical of Swank's careless handling of the truth.

I served on the Lake County Forest Preserve Land Acquisition Committee for 24 years, and I can tell you first hand, Swank has little, if anything, to do with the Oak Prairie Reserve other than being there. The late Gaylord Donnelley and F.T. "Mike" Graham chairman of the Land Acquisition Committee were the key players. Graham promoted the acquisition of the 244 acre Almond Road Marsh, which was key to Donnelley's involvement.

The Almond Road Marsh purchase met stiff opposition even from members from Libertyville and threatened its designation. Word filtered back to the Land Acquisition Committee that if the Almond Road Marsh was dropped, Donnelley would no longer be involved with his land and his influence. Opposition quickly melted and although the acquisition was cut back from 400 acres to 244, most of the program was successful. Swank, at best, was only a bit player, and if Graham didn't have the foresight and determination (Continued on next page)

Countdown sounds

Local election day nearing. Make a date to vote April 20. The outcome could have a big impact on your life.

The countdown is sounding for local election balloting April 20.

That vital and invigorating force—the political campaign—for our democratic form of government, is unfolding. It matters not that the positions at stake are village and township positions, the bottom of the pecking order of self government. What matters is that these positions have the potential for massive impact on our daily lives.

At this point, the village battlelines are pretty well drawn. It's amazing that while the players may change, the issues from one election to another remain pretty much the same—economy, efficiency, proper planning, professionalism, delivery of municipal services. And the charges are similar—sign tampering, mudslinging, inexperience, special interests, power grabbing and so forth. What's uppermost in the minds of citizens? Exploding real estate taxes.

What's different about this "off year" election for local offices is the focus on township government. We can't remember a time when there was more interest, and, in some cases, more candidates in the township, than this year. With rare exception, the township candidates are well qualified, committed and knowledgeable. With this being the case in the townships, it's a win-win situation for the voters.

Circle April 20 on your calendar. Voting Day. We'll do our best to inform you of the candidates and the issues. Above all, be sure and get to the polls the third Tuesday of April.

Hearings could clear final Rte. 53 hurdles

by BILL SCHROEDER

While bulldozers are being positioned to begin spring highway construction, wheels are grinding on a variety of behind-the-scenes levels to clear the final hurdles for approval of the mother of all Lake County highway projects—the extension northward of Rte. 53 from Lake-Cook Rd.

Within the next several weeks, public hearings are expected to begin on environmental and congestion mitigation studies being conducted under auspices of the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

Reports are that only minor shifts in the proposed center line through Long Grove and Hawthorn Woods will be necessary to carry the super-highway along the originally planned route to a point south of Grayslake.

Vigor of opposition to the expressway that will bi-sect south Lake County has been drained away effectively by officials of 12 municipalities and the county banded together as the Corridor Planning Council of Central Lake County. This influential body has been working with IDOT engineers basically to insure interchange planning. Libertyville Mayor Jo Ann Eckmann applauded the cooperative effort which will insure Rte. 53 access at Lake-Cook Rd., Rte. 22, Midlothian-Peterson Rds., Rte. 45 and Rte. 21, along with an I-94 link at Gurnee.

Apparently lost in the shuffle has been a westward stretch looping Johnsburg and Fox Lake to hook up with Rte. 12 at the Wisconsin stateline. The roadway, originally envisioned with Rte. 53 by planners more than 25 years ago, still is on the drawing boards where the controversial central county expressway rested until three years ago.

CAMPAIGN HUMOR—In politics, a sense of humor always comes in handy.

That's the opinion of Alberta "Bertie" Miller, as she winds down a career in public life as supervisor of Grant Township. Bertie is sporting a button these days that says: "Running for Retirement—93."

ASSIGNED—Randi Ostro, a journalism graduate from Northwestern University, has assigned herself the story of her young life—West Africa, where she plans on taking an up-front look at the culture and politics of the turbulent nation. Ostro says what happens in this area has a big impact on the U.S. Randi will head for Ghana in June, paying for expenses from earnings saved while writing for some Chicago area publications. Her problem is the $1,750 plane fare. The Wadsworth resident is appealing to friends and business persons who believe in her mission to send donations. Randi is a graduate of Grayslake High School. She can be contacted at 360-8660.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Friends joined with our family at a church service to pay tribute to "Dr. John," who touched so many lives in a warm and compassionate way in his 40-year practice of obstetrics in Lake County. Mourners marveled at his Herculean accomplishment of bringing more than 10,300 babies into this world without the loss of a mother. Then we found out that he didn't count deliveries made during service as a Navy physician or handling emergencies for other doctors. Unbelievable. My uncle was quite a guy!

Forego a Big Mac

Editor:

Vern Holmes' figure of $360 per household per year for the Antioch Community High School referenda was inaccurate. According to his figures, the average house in the district is worth $300,000. Not! The education fund referendum will cost $107 per year for a house with a market value of $100,000, not an assessed value as Holmes mistakenly figured it. The building fund increase would cost $87 per year $100,000 market value.

Is the combined increase of $194 per year all that tough to accept when you consider that the students in the district are our future? Can we give up $3.70 per week to maintain their dreams? Giving up lunch once a week at McDonald's would cover it.

At a recent public hearing at ACHS, Clarence Williams, ACHS director of special education, shared some enlightening figures. The cost to taxpayers per year to educate a student in the district is $7,000 while the cost to taxpayers per year to warehouse a criminal in prison is $20,000 per year. It's your choice on April 20. Please punch 216 (Yes) for the Education Fund and 199 (Yes) for the Building Fund.

Relocation plan absurd

Editor:

The time has come to stop "bashing" the Navy for the long suffering ills associated with the North Chicago School District.

The military, and in this case, the Navy, never pays impact fees for the children of military families. These monies are paid by the Dept. of Education, based on numbers of children in seats. These same monies are also paid for those families living in subsidized housing. The amount is approximately $1,750 per pupil for the current year. The Dept. of Education is current in its payment to North Chicago. It is not the federal government's fault that local authorities cannot balance their school budget.

The North Chicago elementary and high school districts merged in 1989; most of their combined outstanding debts were paid by the state at that time, leaving the newly formed North Chicago Unit District with almost a zero debt. Now, four years later, the district is again in debt and stands ready to disband. Most, if not all, of the surrounding school districts are already full, and have their own financial problems. The proposal to send 1,600 elementary school children to Woodland Schools is absurd. They just reduced their budget by $150,000. Where does North Chicago think that Woodland will get the money for the added students?

I believe that those responsible for allowing this to happen—the superintendent, the school board, and administrators should be held accountable for their actions. Taxpayers from North Chicago and surrounding communities should ask for an accounting of funds, year by year, since the 1989 merge, to determine what monies were spent where.

If, indeed, the problem lies with insufficient impact fees, then lobby congress to increase the fees. But, if the problem lies with the administrators of the district, then let them stand accountable for their actions.

In either case, get off the "Bash Great Lakes" bandwagon. The Navy has contributed much to the community in the past. All of Lake County stands to lose if the Navy leaves.

Examples of good planning

Editor:

I moved to Gurnee in June 1992, and really enjoy living here. What impresses me most about Gurnee is that it is well planned and seems to have direction. I moved to Gurnee from a community that was growing, and still is, but wasn't as well planned as Gurnee.

I have gone to two village board meetings and I was impressed to see how efficient Mayor Welton runs the meetings, and the amount this village board accomplishes in a short period of time. People in Gurnee should be glad they have a village board that works as a team, instead of as individuals who let petty politics and egos get in the way of good government.

The village hall and new police station show that Dick Welton and the village board are planning for the future. The business Dick Welton attracted to Gurnee, such as Sams and Wal-Mart, the Gurnee Mills are great places for young people to obtain work, as well as shop. I am sure that the village collects its fair share of taxes from these businesses, which keeps our property taxes stable, and allows the village to do things such as build a new village hall and police station.

Benefits over-stated

Editor:

The promoters of the proposed gambling development, (Riverboats, Antioch Twp.) cite four benefits: tourism, economic development, jobs, and tax relief. Development in Lake County has had a major negative impact on the environment and over-all quality of life. The stated "benefits" dissipate when one views the consequences of gambling and the resulting degradation of the land and wildlife.

On the pro ledger, one might list jobs and tax relief. Jobs, (projected to be 1,000 part and full time) are a direct benefit to a small portion of people. This factor seriously erodes the gain. Tax relief sounds good. Additional funds will increase the coffers of several taxing bodies. The question is does money equate with improvement?

Economic development is an over-used buzz-word. What are the results of the current boom? They are paved lots with under-occupied stores whose litter blows over two-laned highways being converted to more lanes for the ever increasing traffic that decrease the quality of our air. What was once countryside appears like a sprawling megalopolis with strip malls joining one small disappearing town to another.

Education has been severely compromised, schools are over-crowded and under-equipped. Land is so densely occupied that homes have little more than a fringe of mowed grass. Development has destroyed valuable open land, wetlands, and desirable habitat. The campground earmarked for rape and deemed expendable is a natural area enjoyed by those who cherish the outdoors and is host to numerous species of animal life. Paved and smothered earth will hold 550 vehicles. A reception center, restaurant and shops will consume more land. The remaining natural environment will be dotted with "walking paths" which will render this land sterile and unfit for wildlife. The size of the "boats" on an already over used waterway spells additional disasters for the environment.

Tourism infers that the crowds of people flowing into the area will spend their money at local businesses. People who like to gamble tend to spend their dollars doing just that. Money spent for drinks, food, or trinkets, will more likely, be laid out on the premises.

Money, no matter how it is used, will not off-set this development disguised as a benefit to be vied for.

FIREMEN AT RISK

Fireman, save that child!
That old phrase might have new meaning if you believe everything you read.

The reading is Rachel's Hazardous Waste News published in Annapolis, Md. The current issue is about the male reproductive system, birth defects and sterility.

One occupation at risk is firefighter. Rachel says:

"A study of 22,192 children with birth defects in British Columbia showed that occupation as a fire fighter was related to the occurrence of heart defects. Firefighters are often heavily exposed to carbon monoxide and polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons—the nasty chemicals in smoke."

Non firefighters shouldn't feel complacent. Also at risk for toxic exposure in their occupations are painters, wood workers, carpenters, rubber workers and, even, anesthetists.

ROAD REFERENDUM

This year's race for supervisor in Lake Villa Twp. is turning out to be a referendum on Hwy. Comm. Jim Semmerling. If you believe what his opponents say the man hasn't done anything but spend taxpayer dollars.

In his eight years of holding down this job Semmerling has doubled the size of his department from five to 11 employees, not quite doubled the highway budget to $1.29 million and, in the last four years, spent $99,800 on legal fees. All of this was happening while the 52 miles of township roads remain unchanged.

Semmerling has two opponents in the April election. They are Jim Berryman and John Salata.

Supervisor? Oh, I almost forgot. There are incumbent Sue Hanson, Lake Villa Mayor Joyce Frayer and Karen Sullivan (Semmerling's running mate).

GEO MAKES CENTS

Adeline Geo-Karis is still OUR state senator judging from her latest piece of legislation.

It would ban collection outside of Chicago of a small surcharge on monthly Com Ed bills. This is part of the $70 million franchise fee the utility pays to Chicago.

"This is an involuntary hidden tax to support the utility's cost of doing business in Chicago," said the Zion Republican. "It is outrageous. We get no benefit."

Believe it or not, payment of this fee has been going on for years. Only about one-third of the utility's customers live in Chicago.

Whether the bill saves us 10 cents or $10 a month, it endears us even more to our beloved Geo.

OVERHEARD/SEEN

LIBERTYVILLE—For his latest fund raiser, Supv. Ralph Swank Jr. booked the Parkway restaurant in Waukegan. Why? Because restaurant Mgr. Martin Paulson is the assessor candidate on Swank's ticket. And there is a small unincorporated part of Waukegan in Libertyville Twp. ■■■■

ROUND LAKE HEIGHTS—Two committeemen have endorsed Mayor Sandra Morris for re-election. They aren't just any committeemen, but Democrat Julia Edwards and Republican Laura McGuire. They're the only two of their kind in the village. ■■■■

LINDENHURST—Village hall employees are still clearing away the smoke from a late April visit by township Hwy. Comm. James Semmerling. Someone called to complain that Semmerling was distributing literature door to door, even at homes with signs "No soliciting. By order of Lindenhurst Police Dept." Semmerling thought politicians were exempt. ■■■■

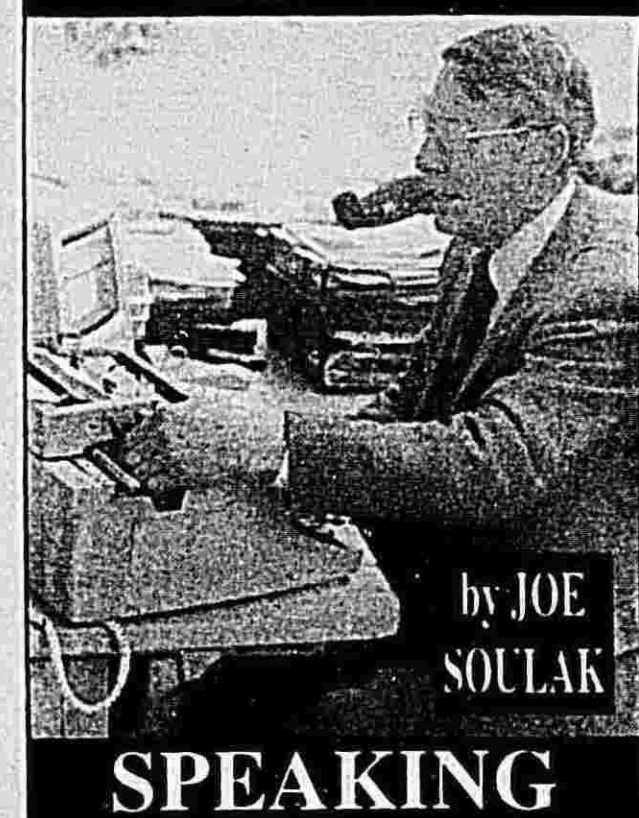

WAUKEGAN—Welcome home to township Supv. Milt Staben. He was in the hospital last week for some intestinal plumbing. But he's back ready to resume the re-election battle. ■■■■

LAKE VILLA—Hwy. Comm. Jim Semmerling is thoughtful husband. While his wife, Marion, was in the hospital in January, 1991, he sent her a $36 bouquet—and charged it to taxpayers.

COMING EVENTS

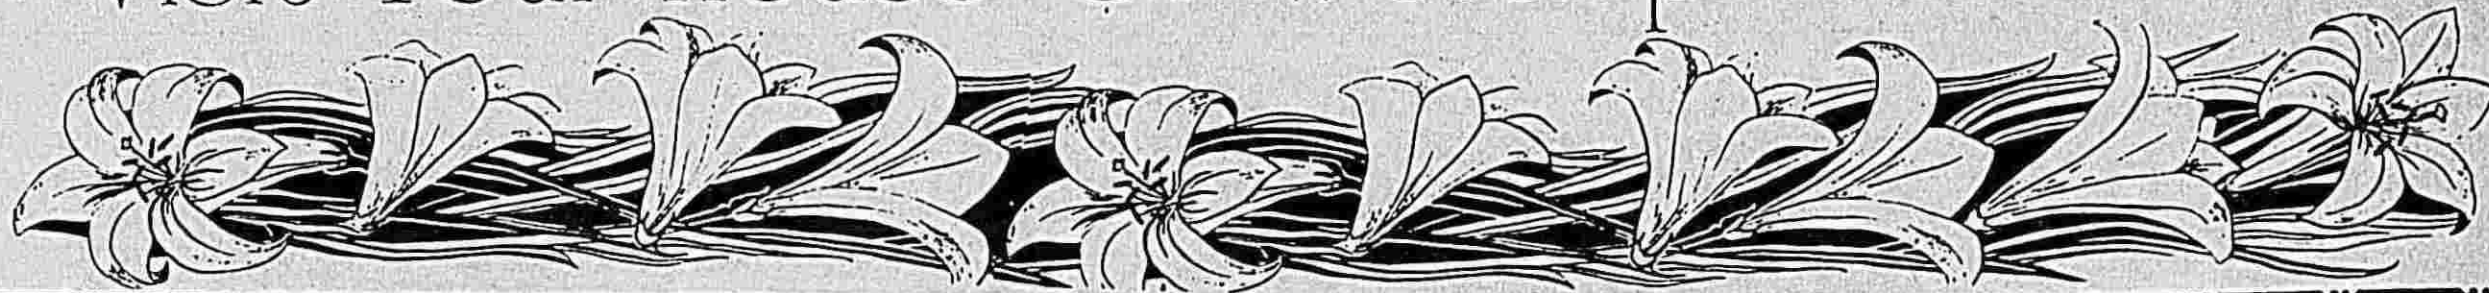

■■■■ Wednesday, April 14—Fish fry fund raiser by Grass Roots Citizens Party running in Grant Twp. April election, Mineola Hotel, 5 to 8:30 p.m. Free will offering at door. POLITICALLY

Fox Lake, 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., free sandwiches, soda and beer. ■■■■ Saturday, April 24—Fund raiser for Citizens Against Unsafe Electricity co-sponsored by Congressman Phil Crane, state Sen. More than flowers bloom in spring

As spring begins to bloom, so does the Floral Design Gallery in Libertyville, and it doesn't take a green thumb to get it started.

Partners Gina Tajik and Tracy Weidner opened the gallery, 703 N. Milwaukee Ave., last month, but had a grand opening to welcome and introduce the business last week.

Tajik, 29, and Weidner, 28, may be new to the business, but business is not new to them.

Having worked at an interior design company for the past eight years, the two combined abilities and decided to open the business.

"We decided we wanted to go off and do something on our own," said Tajik, who worked as the designer, while Weidner worked in accessory and artwork sales. The two had been talking about the change for about two years.

"With my background in design and Tracy's background in art and both of our backgrounds in sales, we combined our talents," she added.

Their past experience also is what makes them unique, according to Tajik.

"It's unusual to find a floral shop that combines so many creative and decorative disciplines," she said.

Not only does the floral shop provide floral arrangements, but will install real or silk plants within the home or business. They also offer poster artwork framing, custom framing and interior design services.

Though it is a first business "adventure," the duo knows what is important to a business: the customers.

The gallery focuses its attention on the customer, to better provide what the customer wants, rather than creating items and not giving the customer a choice.

"It's important that whatever the customer wants, whether it's redecorating a room or buying a floral arrangement for decoration, we provide a decorative solution or floral design that will reflect their taste, not just ours," Tajik said.

"We can help the customer if they don't know what to get, but know what they want the room or arrangement to look like," she added.

And cost is negotiable, to a point.

Weidner and Tajik will help customers determine how much a project will cost, or what projects they will provide the customer if the customer has a given amount of money to spend on the project.

The floral shop will provide for weddings, banquets, parties, any occasion. Weidner said the partners will go to the home and hold private consultations with directors, coordinators, and other people involved in weddings, or parties, or events where their services are needed, to make sure the decorations match the event, look and style the parlor desires.

"There was one woman we were doing a wedding for, providing flowers, and instead of a floral center piece, she wanted a crackle vase with marbles on the bottom and a single flower," said Weidner.

"We can do that. Another woman wanted hurricane lamps for her centerpieces for the tables and we are providing that."

The Floral Design Gallery is open Monday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. For more information, call Tracy Weidner or Gina Tajik at 549-7404.

floral arrangements, they also offer poster artwork framing, custom framing and interior design services.—Photo by Mary Phillips

Baxter chief receives United Way award

Baxter CEO and Chairman Vernon R. Loucks Jr. receives the Alexis de Tocqueville Society Award from Teresa Hall Bartels of Manpower Temporary Service.

Vernon R. Loucks Jr., chairman and CEO of Baxter International, was honored by the United Way of Lake County with the Alexis de Tocqueville Society Award, a national award which recognizes personal leadership and outstanding volunteer community service.

Loucks was chosen for the award based upon the philanthropic endeavors which he has supported. Under his leadership, Baxter developed a "Dollars for Doers" program, which supports employees' volunteer efforts by making monies available for the community programs with which they are involved.

His enthusiasm for volunteerism was also the impetus for starting The Volunteer Center for Lake County. Baxter was the first company to include a box on its United Way pledge card for employees to indicate an interest in volunteering.

At his direction, Baxter has also contributed millions of dollars in health-care products to emergency relief efforts around the world.

Quality materials bring beauty

It may be true that beauty is only skin deep, but in the deluxe condominium market, quality construction is usually finished with quality materials that add a necessary touch of luxury.

Examples of this can be found at the Lakes of Lincolnshire Condominiums, a new community of 60 luxury condominiums in north Lincolnshire, where the standard amenities are the "upgrades" of other developments.

"Probably the first impression people get when they come through the door is of the upgrade materials that are standard," said David Katz, executive vice president of the company. "Each foyer has 12 inch marble tile floors; it's a detail that makes an immediate impact and gets the adrenaline flowing." In addition to marble foyers, and marble floors in the adjoining powder rooms, each residence includes a gas fireplace with a marble hearth and surround.

"We also use oak doors throughout the home's interior," said Katz. "We have found that marble and oak are among the most recognizable forms of quality to a home buyer—but they're not the only ones we use."

The Lakes of Lincolnshire's two six story buildings, joined by a first floor indoor garage, feature two and three bedroom luxury condominiums with two or 2 1/2 baths, and five of the six floor plans include family rooms. Two models opened in early March, and first occupancies are expected soon in the first phase of construction.

Last chance to buy at Country Walk

The innovative Horizon Series at Country Walk has been so popular with buyers that only 15 homes in the series remain available in the Round Lake Beach community.

Country Walk, a 325 acre community which will include a total of 900 homes in three series of attached and detached single family homes, is being developed by Sundance Homes and is one of the fastest selling new home communities in the Chicago area.

Michael Schall, vice president of sales and marketing for Rolling Meadows-based Sundance Homes.

"The Horizon Series captures the spirit of the 90's so well that buyers have felt completely at home in these exciting yet completely practical homes," said Schall. "While home buyers have responded with great enthusiasm to the entire community of Country Walk, there is no question that the Horizon Series is a major reason why Country Walk has been named Development of the Year."

Country Walk is located on Cedar Lake Rd., just north of Rollins Rd. To visit the community, take Hwy. 94 to Hwy. 132 west to Hwy. 45 south to Rollins Rd. west of Cedar Lake Rd. north to the community entrance.

Real Estate

By NANCY CLUTE

REALTOR

WHAT GOES WITH HOUSE?

Real estate is usually defined as the land and everything attached to it, such as: buildings, trees, shrubs, etc. The buyer normally gets all of the real estate, but none of the owner's personal property. The problem arises when personal property has become a part of the real estate. This is called a fixture and does pass with the real estate.

There are three usual tests which must be satisfied. Has the personal property been permanently annexed to the real estate? Is it intended to become part of the real estate? And finally, what is the local custom? Usual fixtures might include: shades, heaters, ranges, screens, storm windows, lighting fixtures, etc.

It is important that the seller spell out specifically in his sales agreement exactly what he intends to give to the buyer as part of real estate. This will save misunderstanding at the closing, and sometimes save a sale.

If there is anything I can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at RE/MAX HERITAGE, 4641 Grand Avenue, Gurnee. Phone: 336-2600. I'm here to help!

Interim Personnel ranked number one franchise operation

Interim Personnel, (a division of Interim Services, Inc., an H&R Block company), with local offices in Waukegan and Libertyville, was ranked by "Entrepreneur Magazine" as the number one franchise company in the temporary employment field.

To rank the winning companies, "Entrepreneur Magazine's" 14th Annual "Franchise 500" took into account numerous factors including number of years in franchising, number of franchised units and company-owned operating units, start-up costs, growth rate and the financial stability of each company.

Interim Personnel and Interim Legal Personnel services clients out of 12 offices which specialize in office clerical, light industrial and legal staffing. Franchise owners, Mike and Mary Ann Sullivan, were the first franchise operation in the Interim family of offices to reach 1.5 million hours billed in a single year. According to Mrs. Sullivan, "outsourcing is fast becoming a significant business trend and our temporary services are uniquely designed to meet the economical needs of companies today and tomorrow. This ranking by 'Entrepreneur Magazine' speaks highly of our commitment to client service and the outstanding quality of our personnel."

Waukegan Office Manager Tom Kmiecik sees the number one ranking as a testimonial to the efficient and effective use of Interim's temporary services. "Our clients expect number one service," cited Kmiecik, "and we make every effort to provide it to them. We're open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, and if an organization needs a temporary legal assistant, office receptionist or light industrial tradesperson, we are just a phone call away."

Interim Services, Inc. is one of the largest staffing solutions companies in North America. Last year, the company filled more than 2 million temporary assignments and provided the widest range of skills to companies and professional service organizations including: Attorneys, accountants, paralegals, assemblers, document reviewers, secretaries, laborers, receptionists, clerical assistants, physicians, nurses, therapists and home health aids—offering more diversity than any other temporary services company.

Troubled families find ray of hope

Headquarters of Central Baptist Children's Home/ Family Services have been located at the former Augusta Lehman Mansion in Lake Villa since 1948.

Donald E. Mertic, executive director of CBCH.

The Busy Bee Child Development Center in Waukegan is primarily for low-income families.

Susan Losavio, director of Busy Bee, takes time for a hug.

When Central Baptist Children's Home/ Family Services was founded as Chicago Baptist Orphanage in 1895, its primary mission was to care for children who were orphaned because their parents succumbed to disease or some other untimely death.

As society's problems changed, with increasing drug and alcohol abuse, the reasons children were placed in orphanages changed. Also, over time, the approach towards dealing with dysfunctional families shifted.

"In the '60s, child welfare as we know it didn't work with families. The families were the bad people. All the emphasis was on the child," said Donna Kazragis, program director of Community Alternative Renewal Experiences (CARE) for Central Baptist Home.

In the late '60s and early '70s, the philosophy on orphanages changed and children were instead being placed in foster homes. Central Baptist no longer served as an orphanage and its focus shifted to family preservation at a time when child welfare philosophy was also undergoing transformation.

by CLAUDIA M. LENART

"There was a shift in the '80s under the Carter administration — Parents are not bad. We need to work with them," said Kazragis.

Over the years and through the changes, Central Baptist Home headquartered in Lake Villa has evolved. It now has 26 geographic sites throughout Illinois, and one in St. Louis Missouri, providing a wide range of family services. Although the services are varied, the mission is the same, "To help families remedy conditions of risk and to thrive and function in ways that promote health, social, emotional and spiritual development of all family members 'that they might have life ... in all its fullness.' (John 10:10)"

Now, Central Baptist is preparing to re-open residential facilities this summer as part of a new program, CARE. But this time, the aim is to work with the families as well as the children and to eventually return the children to their homes.

CARE is the brainchild of Jimmie H. Smith, deputy director of downstate program operations, and the program is being developed by Kazragis.

The residential placement is one part of CARE. Through it Lake County youths will be able to live closer to their families thereby enabling a future reunification. Currently, there are about 1,000 Illinois children placed in residential facilities outside of the state making integrated services difficult, if not impossible.

Other parts of CARE include in-home counseling, to prevent children from ending up in residential care, and a day treatment program for children who can't be accommodated in the public schools.

"In the day treatment program there will be a therapeutic emphasis," said Kazragis. "When a child comes to school in the morning and he's been physically abused the night before, you can't teach math the first thing."

For children to be accepted into the CARE program, families must commit to working with Central Baptist. CARE also works with other community-based services so when the children return home or to their community school, they can stay there.

Kazragis said the trend in social services is toward community investment or "rap-around service."

"If a child is getting in trouble, it's not only the parents problem. It's a police problem. It's all of our problem," said Kazragis.

Other services provided through Central Baptist Children's Home are family preservation, child and family counseling, child development services, homemaker services, community-based youth services, foster family care, adoption and community mental health services.

Another Lake County site is the Busy Bee Children's Center, a daycare for low-income families, and Lakeshore Family Services in Waukegan. Last fall, a new facility was built which includes a state-of-the-art child development center.

Services provided through Central Baptist Home are not only for Baptists. "We're affiliated with the American Baptist Church, but it doesn't matter what faith the child is, or whether the child has any faith at

"Amethyst and the Magical Mum," written by local playwrights Robert Carlson and Erik Hultquist, is an exciting original. This fantastic family-tale combines elements of a traditional folktale, and the magical wizardry popular in modern computer games, presented with timely humor to appeal to the whole family.

The story follows the quest of a young girl trying to save her kingdom. Along the way she meets a troll, a gypsy, a genie, a wizard and two queens and learns lessons concerning friendship, greed and responsibility.

Little Caboose Theatre has a policy of donating 10 percent of ticket sales from each production to a local children's charity. "Amethyst and the Magical Mum" will benefit The Children's Place, a pediatric care facility.

Sealed with a kiss

Through Aug. 29, Chicago Children's Museum will present its newest exhibit, Sealed with a Kiss: Mail Art, sponsored by the United Parcel Service Foundation.

S.W.A.K.: Mail Art is a highly interactive exhibit of fanciful art that redefines the everyday act of mailing a bill or sending a letter to a friend. Mail Art is art that has been postmarked; it is correspondence designed to please the eye as well as the mind. There are thousands of artists worldwide who create art out of and on spaces as little as a nineteen cent postcard or a letter size envelope—and then send it to someone through the mail.

Design stations in the exhibit will offer paper, paint, rubber stamp images, markers, copy machine art and found objects to all who wish to try their hand at creating their own masterpiece to mail to a special pen pal. In addition, young artists will be able to commemorate important individuals or events in their own lives by designing and then making their own stamps. Also on display in this section will be winning entries from the Illinois Department of Conservation's Junior Duck Stamp Contest.

Chicago Children's Museum is dedicated to the needs and interest of children and their families. Located at 465 E. Illinois Street n North Pier Chicago, 2nd Floor. For more information, call (312) 527-1000.—by RHONDA VINZANT

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be more understanding of those around you. They want to please, but the full moon could create a problem or two. Anyhow, making up is fun, especially when it's you being kissed up to. Plan on a romp this weekend.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Plunge into work and handle what no one else can. Your efficiency is tested. You gain your just desserts by the weekend when you have plenty of time to savor them. Others seek you out big time.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be more direct with a project that is close to your heart. Ideas flow left and right. Streamline red tape, so you have more time for fun. Don't worry about the loving admirers. They are all around you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be aware of your options this week. You must take care of you and yours first. Understand more of what it is you want, and then you can make it happen. Unfortunately, you may have to work way into the weekend as you get so distracted during the week.

LEO (July 23-August 22) The pace may be hectic and there may be much to do, but trust one thing, you need to talk through a recent misunderstanding. Once this is cleared up, you are centered. Accomplishment is the name of the game, and you get to savor the trophies all weekend long.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) Be more energetic when it comes to what really counts to you, and don't let another call the shots. Give yourself a pep talk and zero in on what you really want. Count on a cozy, snug weekend for two at home.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) You are so full of vigor, you could overwhelm those around you. Be more aware of what makes your life work. Visiting with a pal proves to be a wonderful weekend pastime. No time like the present to catch up on news!

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) Much of the week is spent reflecting and planning, or it should be. Don't move until you are absolutely sure as to what it is you want. You indulge yourself and another all weekend long.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Count on a busy week, when you need to attend many meetings, be social and make the most of the encounters. You may need to question another's motives. When you decide to take action, it will be just in the nick of time.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Show off your stuff this week as you take care of responsibilities and handle what must be done with care. There are many reasons for celebration and fun, even before the weekend. So make the most of any excuse for a romp.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) Check out what's going on behind the scenes at work. You come up with vital solutions and new understandings. Many could be in awe of what you are about to do. Others wish just to know you. In this spirit, you soar into the weekend.

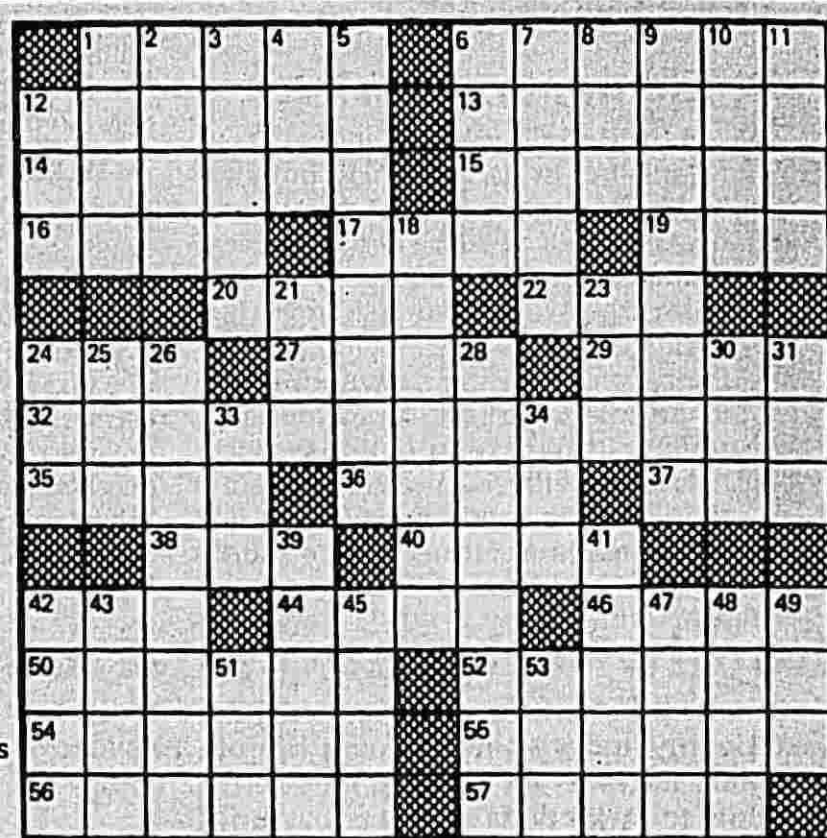

PISCES (February 19-March 20) Close encounters of a practical, material nature, as well as a loftier, spiritual nature, are highlighted this week. Tune into your higher self as you come up with incredible ideas and loving wisdom. Know you are in prime shape to take the reins of power and desire.

Update On Airline Price-Fixing Suit

by JIM WARNKEN, President, North Star Travel, Inc.

Much has happened since I last reported on the class-action suit against nine of the nation's largest airlines. Here's the latest.

Who is eligible to file a claim?

Anyone who bought domestic air tickets between Jan. 1, 1988 and June 30, 1992 on American, Continental, Delta, Midway, Northwest, Pan Am, TWA, United and USAir for travel from most major cities.

Exceptions. If your company paid for the ticket, they file. Air/Cruise packages where the airfare was included, are not eligible.

When must you file?

The deadline has been extended to June 30, 1993.

Where do you get claim forms?

Call 800-854-7264 between 7:30 a.m. and 8 p.m. weekdays or 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, or write to Airlines Antitrust Litigation, PO Box 209, Philadelphia, PA 19107. Request form A, B, or C. Form A is for infrequent flyers and requires little documentation. Form B is for claims of up to $2,500 in air tickets. Request Form C for claims above that amount.

How do I prove my claim?

Credit card statements and expense reports are your best bet, if your claim is challenged. Your travel agent may be of some help for tickets purchased within the last two years.

What do I get and when do I get it.

No one expects the attorneys will get any cash. Everyone else gets to split $408 million in discount certificates.

In my opinion, with the millions of claims expected to be filed, the average coupon will have little value except for the very large claims.

Certificates, which may be redeemed through your travel agent, will be distributed about 18 months after the June 1 filing deadline.

Wheel World

Born Yesterday

Comedy rebirth OK today

With the millions of stories awaiting us in all our naked cities, why does Hollywood insist on remaking films of yesteryear that were done to perfection the first time? Before you know it, Sharon Stone will be starring in a sexy remake of "Gone With the Wind," and Macaulay Culkin will be doing "Home Alone III - Lost in Oz."

In the 1950s, Judy Holiday, one of the finest comedienesses ever, and Broderick Crawford, a master of clipped rhetoric, swept the Academy Awards with a fast, extremely funny film version of a hit Broadway play called "Born Yesterday."

Holiday was, and always will be, Billy Dawn, just as Vivian Leigh is the incarnate Scarlet, and nobody, but nobody, could ever masquerade as Dorothy but "The Judy."

Now Melanie Griffith, who would seem to be Holiday's likely heir, and her hubby Don Johnson, along with "Roseanne's" John Goodman, have chosen to 1990s a film that reeks of the 1950s.

Younger viewers who haven't caught the original on tape have an advantage here because the 1990s version is an entertaining film in its own right, but it pales in comparison to the mother film.

There should be a rule that top drawer flicks cannot be remade on the premise of cruelty to young actors.

Broderick was detached, fast and witty - Goodman, though he has his funny moments, is at times downright unlikely.

Griffith, who sets a slower pace for the entire production, is pathetically comical, while Holiday was a dopey dame with human smarts that kept the audience in stitches with the things she flew out of her mouth.

Johnson's version of the role originally played by William Holden is probably the closest to the original caliber.

This is the story of a crooked business tycoon and his dumb blond mistress who gets thrown to the Washington wolves, only to teach them how to bite. Johnson plays the guy Goodman hires to give Griffith some class, which he does with a little lovin' tossed in for good measure.

If it is possible to judge the new "Born Yesterday" on its own merits, we give it four stars out of five stars for the enjoyable two hours it offers.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Plenty of laughs and tears

Critic's Choice

"Marvin's Room," a provocative play by the late Scott McPherson, an AIDS victim, gets into heady turf in a reprise run at Chicago's Goodman Theatre, focusing, as it does, on both death and rebirth.

With humor and an intelligent script, the play sets its audience for several hearty laughs and a good cry or two. And it brings to the surface the frailty of our mortality. Its well-defined characters are eccentric, moody or slightly nutty—but never dull.

Bessie, the dutiful daughter who has devoted her entire life caring for a bedridden father and slightly dotty aunt, suddenly finds the tables turned when she is stricken with leukemia. An estranged sister, Lee, comes down to Florida from Ohio with her two sons for a trip to Disney World and to check on compatibility for a bone marrow transplant.

Carol Schultz gives a life-affirming performance as Bessie. When she counts her blessings, there's absolutely no question of her sincerity. The dying father is seen only through an opaque glass block wall, but one knows how proud he must be to have raised such a loving daughter.

Yet her troubled nephew Hank (Chuck Huber) can't fathom the altruistic lifestyle. "Nobody does anything just to be nice," he insists.

Mary Beth Fisher, in the part of the sister, overdoes it a bit as the single mother struggling to cope with a rebellious teenager. But her true sympathetic side eventually shines through in a poignant makeup scene with Bessie.

And Jane MacIver is a delight as the soap-opera-hooked spinster aunt with an electronic anestheticizer (to ease the pain of collapsed vertebrae) that has a tendency to short circuit the garage door opener.

"Marvin's Room" runs through April 18.—by TOM WITOM

Folk music concert at Stage Two

Kat Eggleston and Andrew Calhoun are two of acoustic music's most accomplished singer/songwriters. The folk singers offer renditions of original, contemporary, and traditional songs and tunes featuring guitars, vocals, mandolin hammer dulcimer. Eggleston and Calhoun will perform in concert on Saturday, April 24 at 8 p.m. at Stage Two Theatre in Waukegan. Tickets are $5 each.

Their performance consists of both solo and duo selections and is noted for musical quality, off beat humor, and poetic insight. Concert highlight includes Eggleston's "Furry," a powerful portrayal of a battered wife; Calhoun's "Survival," written for a struggling friend; and a Capella duet of a Scottish country song "The Spinning Wheel," and a recitations from poets such as Edna St. Vincent Millay.

Stage Two Theatre is located at 12 N. Sheridan Rd., Waukegan, in the newly renovated University Center. Entrance to the theater is from the city parking lot off Sheridan Road, between Washington and Madison Streets. For reservations, or for more information, call the box office at 662-7088.

Affordable housing—the time to buy is now

Housing affordability conditions are at the highest level in 18 1/2 years. "The combination of mortgage interest rates, family income and home prices are the best we've seen since the second quarter of 1974," says Larry Fales, President of the Lake County Association of REALTORS®.

Assuming a 20 percent down payment and standard lending requirements during the last quarter of 1992, a family earning the national median family income of $36,837 had 129.6 percent of the income required to purchase a median-priced existing home, which was $103,400.

"The numbers are different for first-time buyers making smaller down payments, but for many people, today's conditions present the opportunity of a lifetime", Fales says.

Of course, conditions vary widely around the country, based largely on predominate costs in a given area. The following table show general prices which can be afforded at various income levels:

Income	Purchase Price
$20,000	$72,800
$30,000	$109,200
$40,000	$145,500
$50,000	$181,900

On average, purchasing power has increased

9.4 percentage points during the last year for the typical family. "In real dollars, a median-income family can afford a home costing $14,900 more than a year ago," Fales explains.

A challenge remains for many renters trying to make the transition to homeownership. A typical renter, between the ages of 25 and 44, earns $27,837. "This is only 84.9 percent of the income required to purchase the national median starter home, costing $87,900", he says. "However, with a downpayment of ten percent at that income level, a first-time buyer can afford a home costing $74,600", Fales adds.

For first-time buyers, conditions are the best they've been since 1977. "To put it in perspective, an entry-level buyer can afford a home costing $7,400 more than a year ago," he explains.

The driving force behind improved affordability conditions is the drop in mortgage interest rates. During the last quarter of 1992, the average effective rate for loans on existing homes was 7.74 percent, the lowest in almost 20 years, he says.

"The good news is that mortgage rates should be pretty stable this year, and the thinking is they'll come down a little further," Fales says. "This will help offset modest increases in home prices, and keep these excellent affordability conditions on an even keel," he adds.

The National Association of Realtors® is forecasting the strongest housing market in 14 years for 1993. "The combination of low interest rates, improving consumer confidence and gradual improvement in the overall economy are behind the optimism," Fales says. "We're already seeing the results in a growing sales trend over the last few months," he adds.

Wrap windows in style with handsome valance

Look through any home decorating magazine today and you'll soon discover valances have established their place in home decorating. Simple or ornate, stained, painted or covered with fabric, window valances are enjoying a surge of popularity with nearly every style of home decor. With or without other window coverings, a simple valance provides a nice finishing touch for either traditional or contemporary settings. Made of handsome Western softwood lumber, valances can be stained or painted to match your color scheme, or covered in fabric with padding to soften the contours. Valances are exceptionally easy to build. The ones shown here consist of the valance face and end pieces made from standard 1 x 12 Western Lumber plus a top piece made from a 1x6 board. The styles shown can easily be adapted to any length.

If the valance is to be used with another window covering, such as curtains, draperies or blinds, first measure the curtain rod, then add at least two inches at each end for clearance. Cut the 1x12 face board to that length. Also cut two 5 1/2-inch lengths of 1x12 for the end pieces. For the valance top, cut the 1x6 to a length 1 1/2 inches shorter than the front piece. Using a saber saw or jigsaw, shape the bottom edge of the valance board in a style to complement your decor. It needn't be fancy to add a nice touch to your room. Straight-edged valances are quite popular—and simple to make.

Before assembling, sand the front and end pieces, rounding and smoothing the edges. For an easy-to-finish surface, first use a medium grain sand paper, then sand again with a fine grain paper. The top piece should be sanded for ease of finishing but the edges should be left square. To assemble, glue and nail the front piece to the end pieces using four 2-inch (6d) finishing nails at each joint. Attach the top piece just below the top edge of the valance, using glue and 6d finishing nails. Use four nails where the top meets the end pieces, but minimize the number of nails attaching the face board to the top piece (one nail about two inches in from each end will probably suffice).

For a more finished look, countersink the nails and fill the holes with wood putty. Finish with stain or paint. Or, for a fabric covered valance, pad the outside faces and lower edges with batting, stretch fabric over both the inside and outside of the valance and secure using tacks or staples on the hidden portion of the valance.

To install, position the valance on the wall, centered above the window, and mark the location of the top and ends. Avoid visible marks on the wall by marking the inside edges of the valance. Draw a line on the wall marking the inside top edge of the valance, making sure the line is parallel to the top of the window. Using the line as a guide, attach 1 1/2-inch L-brackets to the wall every 16-24 inches, making sure there is a bracket at each end.

Attach the brackets to the wall at studs or use molly screws. Position the valance atop the brackets, center it above the window and mark screw holes on the underside of the top piece. Pre-drill the holes and attach the valance to the brackets using 1/2-inch wood screws.

Materials list: One length of 1x12 Western Lumber, one length of 1x6 Western lumber, a half pound of 6d finishing nails wood putty (optional), about four 1 1/2 inch L-brackets, enough molly screws or 1 1/2-inch wood screws to attach the brackets, enough 1/2-inch wood screws to attach the valance to the brackets, your choice of finishing materials (paint, stain or fabric).

Tools list: Saber saw or jigsaw, hammer, screw-driver, nailset (optional), electric drill.

Think twice before becoming your own contractor

by RICHARD PREVES

On occasion, homeowners contemplating a residential project will ask the advantages and disadvantages of acting as their own general contractor. They theorize that eliminating the management fee charged by the contractor will save them valuable construction budget dollars.

Typically, a contractor will take the sum of his subcontractor costs, such as the carpenter, plumber or electrician, plus his own direct work, and add from 10 to 20 percent to cover his overhead and profit. On a good sized project, this can represent a substantial amount.

Before you decide to jump into the construction business, consider what your efforts will be to save these fees.

A contractor's first task is to examine the drawings and specifications for the project, and determine the construction trades required to fulfill all phases.

The goal is to obtain bids from each subcontractor to create a total, guaranteed cost for the project. Not all the requirements will be shown on the drawings. These items include temporary protection, utilities, labor, cleaning and removal of construction debris.

Prior to the start of construction, building permits requiring considerable information, time and effort must be processed. Once construction begins, scheduling of the trades requires a knowledge of construction sequencing. Finally, the contractor is ultimately responsible for the workmanship, quality and accuracy of all his subcontractors.

A typical construction project can involve as many as 15 to 20 different trades. You will be required to locate these different subcontractors, and assess the ability and reputation of each one.

Don't become confused about plumbers or electricians listed in the yellow pages. They are usually service tradesmen in the repair field, and charge higher rates than construction subcontractors. One of the biggest challenges a general contractor faces is finding and keeping qualified subcontractors.

Once you have received subcontractor bids for the work, how do you know that they have included all the required work? Many trades will have work that may overlap within the scope of work performed by others. Additionally, how can you be sure that their prices are fair and competitive?

So far, our activity has been confined to pushing paperwork. When construction begins, and a portion of the work has been overlooked in the bidding, it becomes the general contractor's problem because he has guaranteed a total price. If you are the contractor, it is now your problem. That expense will be coming out of your pocket.

If mistakes are made during construction, do you possess the technical expertise to recognize them, and know how they should be corrected? You will be directly responsible in dealing with the subcontractors. One advantage a contractor has is he frequently uses the same subcontractors over and over, so they have an interest in performing properly. Since you will probably not be building again, their interest will not be the same.

Other requirements you will face will be non-technical. You will need to have liability, risk and workman's compensation insurance, which is expensive.

Another large stumbling block can be the limitations placed by the lender who is financing the project, and has an interest in your project being completed correctly.

You may now start seeing how a contractor earns his fee, requiring considerable technical expertise, experience and management skills. To sum up, the words of a client who contracted his own house construction says it best, "You can never anticipate the time, effort, headaches and problems you will encounter. I would never do it again."

'Old' house sparks new ideas for modern living

'Show House' revives classical Greek design

As a reminder of gentler times, the latest "show house" has its roots deeply planted in the history of American architecture—as well as in the classical traditions of ancient Greece.

"This is the most formal house ever built by 'Country Living Magazine,'" notes Joe Porter of the American Wood Council. "Although it features state-of-the-art livability throughout, its classical Greek Revival architecture reflects the style that flourished in this country during the mid-19th century and which was particularly popular in the Midwest, especially in regions of Illinois."

Commissioned by "Country Living" and the American Wood Council, the 3,500-square-foot elegant home is scheduled for completion this May. Chosen as an appropriate site for this Greek Revival beauty is a heavily wooded lot, surrounded by mature oak trees in Lake Bluff.

Lake Bluff began life in the same manner as so many Lake County villages, as a 19th-century summer resort and Methodist camp meeting ground. The historic shoreline town was the site of temperance meetings in the 1880s and has a converted monastery as its conference center.

Typical of Greek Revival design, the "Country Living" house has distinctive square Doric columns supporting a two-story front veranda. As an update, the clapboard exterior is painted a pale yellow with white trim—instead of the traditional white.

The house, faced by a circular driveway, includes four bedrooms, three half-baths, living room, dining room, kitchen, family room, and a two-and-a-half-car garage. The design features smooth-sawn lapped western red cedar siding, cedar shingle roof, oversized windows, and a back porch (with wood deck) that wraps around to a side porch and is supported with square, Doric columns.

Period detailing is featured throughout—such as interior wood columns in classic Doric style with fluted shafts, a carved classical hardwood fireplace mantle with marble, and authentic-design polished brass Greek Revival reproduction lighting fixtures. Other custom features include oak floors, a built-in dining room hutch, a master bathroom with whirlpool tub and Greek Revival style decorative tiles, and an open-style kitchen and family room separated by a breakfast bar.

Not only does the classical design of this house come with an impressive pedigree, but its co-designers do, too. Stuart Cohen and partner Julie Hacker were named by prestigious "Architectural Digest" as among the world's 100 best architects.

The Lake Bluff home can be reached by taking Rte. 176, east to Green Bay Road, north to Belle Forêt Drive, west to 320.

Serving Chicagoland Over 14 Years

Traditionally, the only way to stop rain from running off the roof in sheets and eroding the ground below, was to nail gutters and downspouts onto a house. Gutters—despite their tendency to clog, freeze, corrode and rot—remained the state of the art in rain diversion until now. Rainhandler, an alternative to old-fashioned, box gutters, brings a completely new form to the function of diverting rain.

Rainhandler was invented by Dick Schapker, an engineer trained at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, after a ladder accident while cleaning his gutters. Applying the principles of physics and aerodynamics, he developed a new system to divert rain that breaks up sheets of roof rain into rain-sized droplets, guiding the drops away from the foundation through a louvered disperser. The resulting shower covers a three-to-five foot swath, in effect, gently watering foundation shrubs, border gardens or lawn below. This is an important benefit for homeowners facing water restrictions. As significant, Rainhandler will not cause the erosion or trenching that no gutters or clogged gutters do, which, in addition to being unsightly, can damage the foundation, outside central air conditioner units, or foundation plantings.

Rainhandler's angled three-quarter-inch slats resemble an open Venetian blind. Leaves do not catch in the slats, and are swept away by the wind. A quick jet spray with a garden hose will dislodge any that remain.

Rainhandler has no place for ice to build up, no leaky joints to repair, no downspouts to clog.

Old-fashioned gutters, with their "added-on," often decaying appearance, detract from the beauty of the most well-designed home. State-of-the-art Rainhandler is nearly invisible on the home it protects, blending into any style and preserving the architectural integrity.

Made of aluminum and warranted against defect for 25 years, Rainhandler sections are available in natural aluminum.

white or brown. Special hardware is also available to adapt Rainhandler to unusual construction, such as angled or short fascia boards.

CUSTOM FIT REQUIRED FOR LOWER GOLF SCORES

"A properly fitted club will improve your score 10-20 strokes."

Pro-Circle Golf Inc. Owner Clarence Shastal, who used to build golf clubs for PGA Tour professionals Byron Nelson, Tommy Bolt and Johnny Revolta during his tenure at Ram Golf 20-years ago, still builds professional quality clubs. However, now Shastal builds those clubs for his customers, not for the PGA elite.

"Service and knowledge are what we offer here," said Shastal. "If I can't do it right, I don't do it at all."

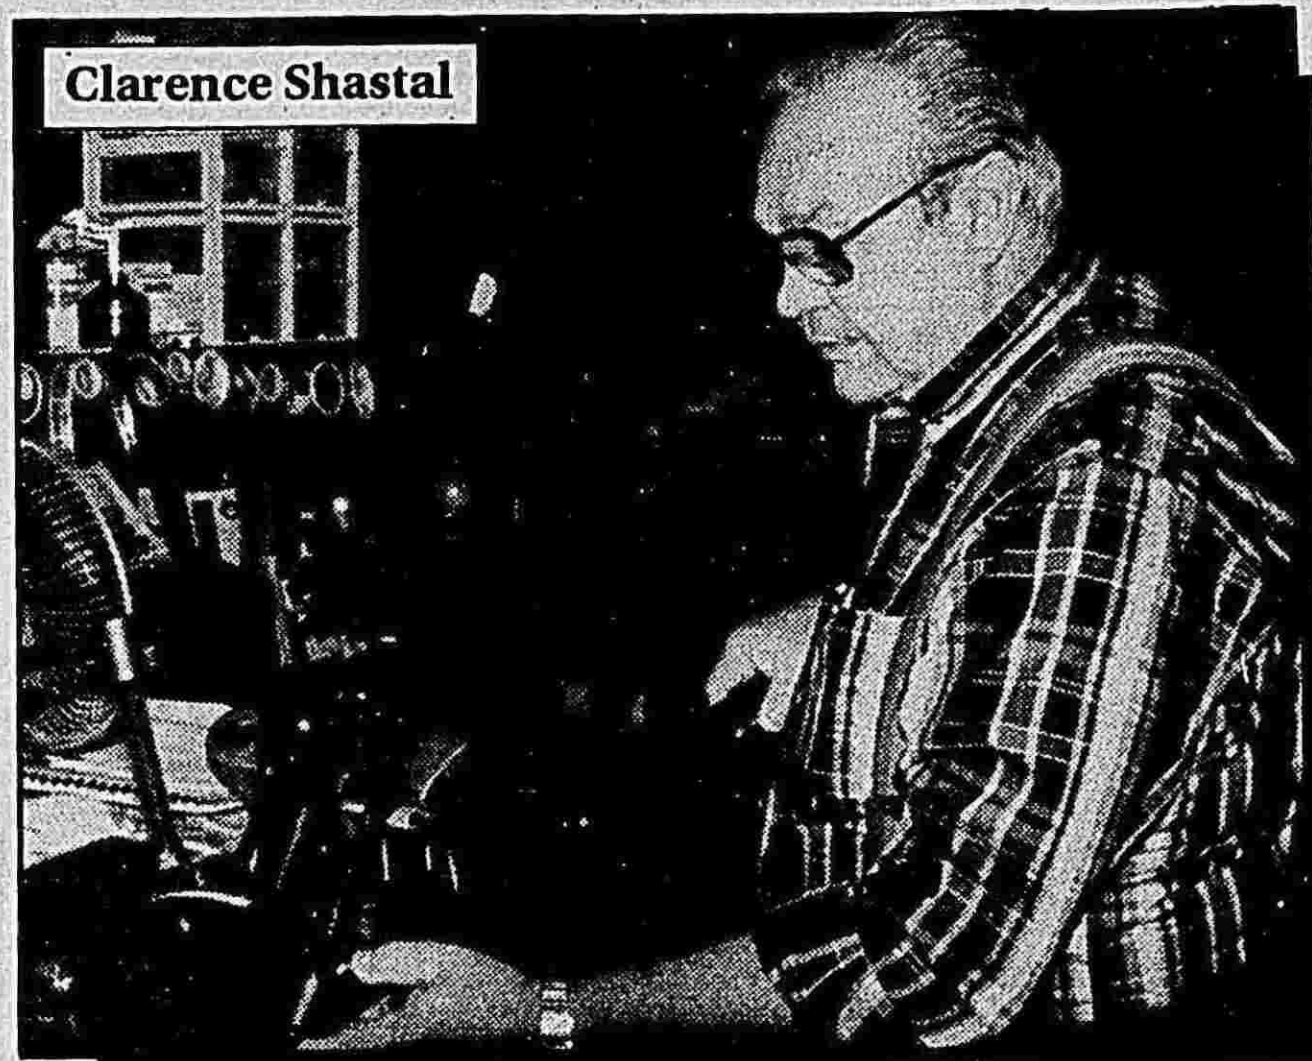

It's this commitment to excellence that has given Pro-Circle a national reputation in the golfing community as one of the best places in the country to buy fitted golf clubs.

Shastal uses his quarter century of club manufacturing experience to properly fit each customer with the proper club shaft, proper angle or lie of the club, and proper weight and balance to produce positive results on the golf course.

"I don't let any club leave my shop until they are right for the golfer," said Shastal. "A properly fitted club will improve your score 10 to 20 strokes."

Player improvement is Shastal's motto for Pro-Circle Golf, Inc. With his full service 5000 square foot Pro-Shop, year round driving range, and professional golf lessons provided by PGA Golf Professionals Ed McCollough and Gary Shastal, Pro-Circle is now the premiere golf center in Northern Illinois.

But contrary to popular belief, Shastal's expert craftsmanship and legendary customer service do not cost a PGA pro's salary.

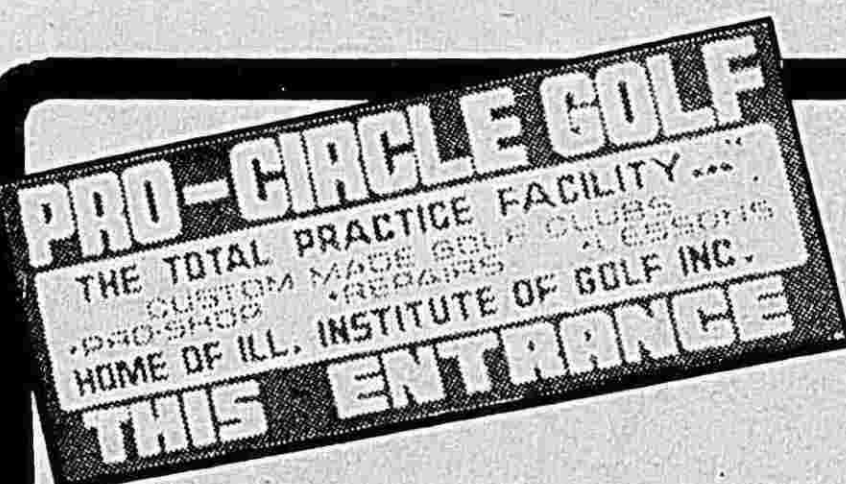

Clarence Shastal

"We treat people the way we would want to be treated," said Shastal. "I can give you a better set of clubs, better service, and better results on the golf course than you can get from one of those discount golf outlets."

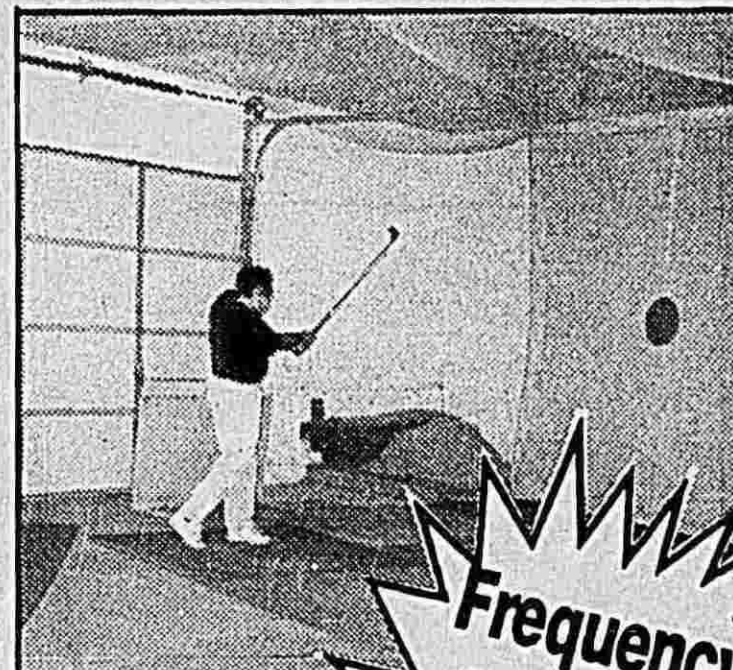

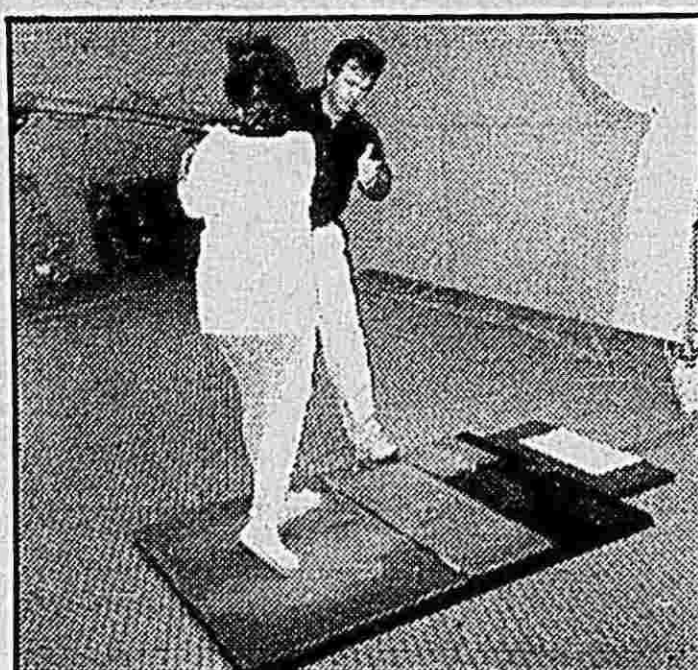

Pro-Circle guarantees that they can fit you with the proper clubs for your golf game, without causing you to break your budget.

"For about the same price as others charge, we will get you a set of clubs that feel the same from club to club and they won't break the tempo of your game."

Renovation brings Lake Geneva's Stone Manor back to life

Lake Geneva's Stone Manor is brought back to life.

In all of its grandeur on the banks of Lake Geneva stands Stone Manor, a stately mansion nearly a century old.

Looking at it now, one sees the elaborate stone detailing, graceful Italian architecture, and quality craftsmanship that originally made the home a masterpiece. But just two years ago the historic estate was close to ruin following years of neglect.

Through extensive restoration efforts, Chicago businessman Thomas C. Ricci has transformed the manor into seven lakefront residences. The 50,000-square-foot mansion now features three luxury residences on each of the second and third floors and one residence encompassing the entire first floor.

Three residences are for sale, priced from $795,000 to $1.4 million. Ranging in size from 3,000 to 4,000 square feet, they include two bedrooms, two baths, gourmet kitchens, two or more fireplaces, and one or more outdoor terraces.

Stone Manor, also known as the Otto Young Estate, was built in 1901 as a summer home for Chicago real estate mogul Otto Young. Designed by renowned architect Henry Lord Gay, the main house was the largest and most luxurious ever built on Lake Geneva.

Legend has it that Mr. Young built the mansion for his wife, who wanted it to look grander than their neighbor's estate. Young invested more than $1 million on the original house, which is constructed of Bedford stone and Italian marble.

Original marble accents, wood fireplace mantels with decorative firebacks, and garland friezes embellish each home.

Hand-carved ceilings throughout the estate feature ornamental plaster moldings and intricate paintings adorned with gold leaf. Approximately 1,400 linear feet of plaster crown moldings have been restored to date. By creating molds from existing workmanship, artisans were able to copy motifs to replace damaged areas. And on many of the upper floors, they transplanted moldings found on lower levels to underscore decor.

All mahogany paneling has been reconditioned. And original floors patterned with oak, mahogany and walnut inlays have been treated and enhances, with matching new floors installed where necessary. Fixtures on the first floor are gold, on the second floor silver, and on the third floor brass.

Laser stenciling was used during renovation to create a faded, antique effect on the pastel paintings that grace the hall walls.

The grand foyer features a central staircase eight feet wide with elaborately carved mahogany balustrades. Instinct prompted Ricci to remove a thick slab of concrete flooring in the entry.

"I had a gut feeling there was something under the concrete, but I thought it was wood flooring," he said. "Instead, I found beautiful marble."

Outside, Stone Manor's massive exterior is made of native stone. A lakeside terrace topped with Bedford stone balustrades surrounds the rear and sides of the home. In addition, the faces of Otto Young's four daughters are carved into the building, two in front and two in back.

Tennis courts and underground parking on Stone Manor's 10 1/2 acres are also being installed. To take advantage of the site's 450 feet of prime Lake Geneva shoreline, a 100-foot pier with individual deeded boat slips is being installed. Exterior landscaping and all common area restoration is scheduled to be complete by summer 1993.

Stone Manor is located at 880 S. Lake Shore Dr. in Lake Geneva, Wis. A model is open for viewing by appointment only. Contact Keefe Real Estate at (414)248-4492 for a private showing.

Once is not enough when treating deck

Experts report that the average cost of a new deck is $3,000. Leave it unprotected, and your deck will look old and weathered in just a year. And maintaining that deck can cost as little as $50 or $60 a year.

There are two types of products available for treating decks: preservatives that protect it from ultra-violet lights, insects, and decay, and water repellents that protect the wood from mold and mildew.

Most homeowners know it is best to use a product containing both a wood preservative and a water repellent on their decks, but homeowners tend to disagree about how often to reapply these products. Some say to re-treat a deck every two to three years, some claim each spring and fall.

Because water repellents wear off quickly experts claim decks should be treated every spring and fall. Several factors, including foot traffic, weather conditions, exposure to water from frequent plant watering or a hot tub, and what product you originally used to protect your deck all affect how long your treatment will last.

If you first treat your deck with a combined wood preservative and water repellent, you can retreat it once or twice a year with a water repellent only. If you start to see some signs of mold and mildew, probably after four or five years, you'll need to reapply the wood preservative with water repellent.

Retreating your deck is easy unless you stained it with a standard house stain. The stain won't protect the deck from insects, decay or even mold and mildew, and prevents a wood preservative or water repellent from penetrating the surface. You'll have to remove the stain by sanding, then give the deck a good cleaning and treat it with a wood preservative/water repellent product.

There are semi-transparent stains that contain both wood preservative and water repellent. You may notice a weathering of the color of these stains, which merely indicates the water repellent is wearing off.

Depending upon how much you use the deck, you may need to reapply a coat of stain every 18 to 24 months, especially in areas subject to a lot of foot traffic. You don't have to remove the old stain, just apply another coat of stain right on top of it.

To determine if your water repellent is wearing off, sprinkle water on your deck on a dry day. If it beads up like rain on a waxed car, it's fine. If not, retreat it with a water repellent.

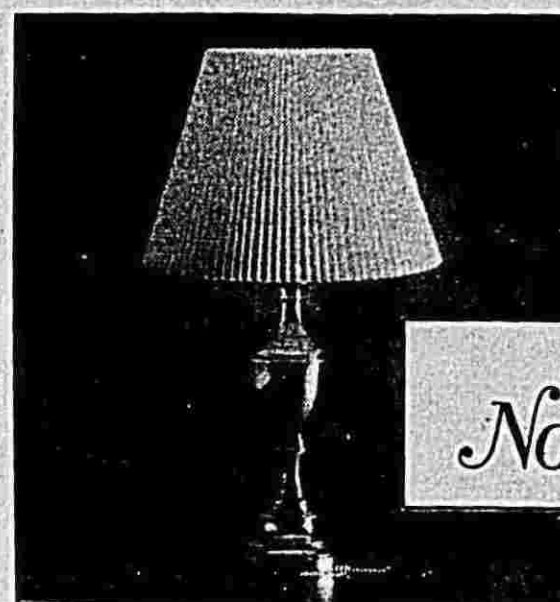

If you just build a deck, select a wood preservative water repellent which is paintable and stainable.

Caution, knowledge key for home improvements

There are so many home improvement tasks you want to do around your home, it seems overwhelming. Part of you would just like to buy a new house and avoid all that work, but if you're an average American, that's just not a practical option.

So what do you do? Try tackling one project at a time. Not everything has to be done before summer arrives. If there are a lot of little projects and a few big ones, do the little ones first. You'll feel a sense of accomplishment after each one is completed, and as your list of chores gets smaller, you may actually look forward to the next on the list.

Before attempting any improvement project it's important to know what you're doing. Don't just guess or say, "I'll figure it out as I go along." Although it's an ambitious attitude, it's one that can result in disaster.

People end up spending exorbitant amounts of time and money because they don't have the skills or the know-how to properly do the job they set out to do.

The savvy do-it-yourselfer is the one who knows when to hire a professional to do the job. Sometimes it's the best alternative. You'll save time, aggravation, and possibly a lot of money.

Just be sure the person you hire is reputable in his or her field. Word of mouth is one of the best ways to find this out. Ask a few neighbors who recently had work done on their homes. Not only will they advise you on who to hire, but they'll probably tell you who to avoid, too.

Safety is probably the most important consideration of home improvement projects. Make sure directions are read, ladders are secure, hands are steady and proper attire is worn.

Masks, goggles, and gloves should be at the top of your checklist, especially when dealing with chemicals like stains and varnishes. Breathing in toxins could not only make you dizzy, but could have damaging effects on your liver and kidneys.

If toddlers are around, keep all lids closed and sharp objects out of the way. You can't curb a child's curiosity, so it's best not to even spark it.

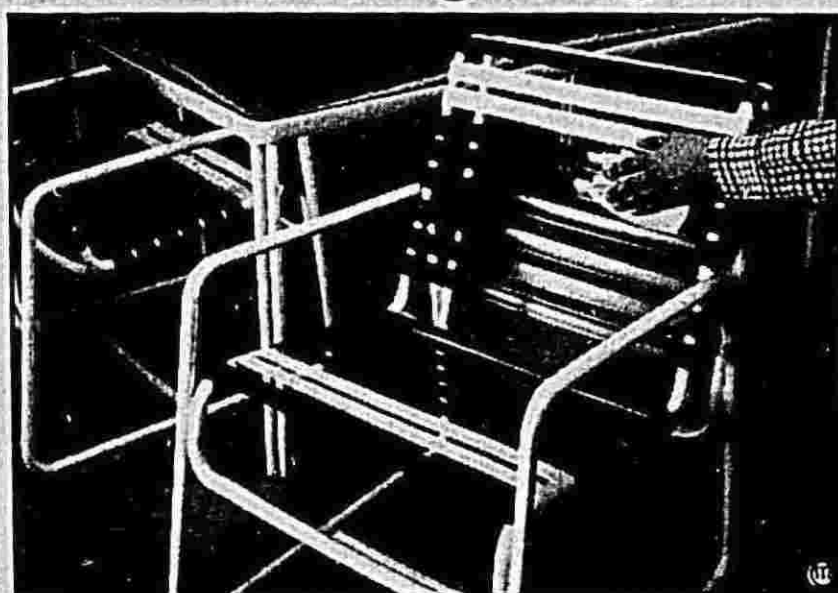

Your home is your castle, no matter how big or small, so when re-doing or improving, caution and knowledge can help you make your palace fit for a king.

Keep patio furniture from getting dull

Along with spring comes the dreaded annual "Spring Cleaning" rituals. Following is a tip to make cleaning your winter stored patio furniture a little easier.

Patio furniture made of vinyl and plastics can be severely damaged by the effects of harsh ultraviolet rays, ozone, severe temperature changes, and normal wear and tear. A quality vinyl protectant should be your first line of defense against these corrosive agents.

Protectants shield your furniture from ultraviolet light and also lubricate the surface, preventing fading, cracking and hardening. It is imperative that you purchase your protectant selectively. You should look for a protectant designed to go far beyond a mere surface treatment—it should penetrate porous vinyl and rubber surfaces and carry the protecting chemicals deep within the material being treated.

Protect outdoor furniture and maintain its original look.

Plan ahead for spring garden chores

Organize for spring. Use vertical wall space for storage of both small parts and large tools. This opens up floor areas for storage of everything from fertilizer to charcoal. Use containers with tight-fitting lids to keep supplies dry and to help prevent spills.

A walk around your property will reveal a number of chores necessary to ready your landscape for the upcoming growing season. Branches snapped by cold-weather storms, flower beds that need preparation, driveways or walls cracked by frost and water seepage—all of these are common problems that require work come spring.

But even while the weather's still cold, there's a way to get a head start on chores. First on the list of priorities should be organizing the tools and materials needed for cleanup and planting. If your garage or shed is in disarray, now is the time to organize the work area so that a fine spring day is not wasted by the need to search for tools and supplies.

Most work tools and supplies can be divided into two categories: the larger type which requires sizable space to store (rakes, shovels, hoses), and smaller odds and ends that tend to get easily misplaced (nuts and bolts, screws, nails, etc.).

To organize well, a good plan is essential.

Most retailers offer a number of alternatives to help with each of these needs.

Here are some "tools" currently available to help you organize your own tools:

- Broom handle hooks with plastic-coated "tension hooks" allow quick retrieval and replacement of rakes, shovels and long-handled tools.

- Deep double hooks hold large-handed garden tools, snow shovels or large mallets.

- Garden hose, power cords, ropes and chains are quickly stored in a carry sling.

- A wall strip, just over 33 inches long, can be used to bring quick order to a work area. The tool holders above and others snap easily into the wall strip for a class act in organization.

- To keep track of small tools and supplies, look for some of these organizers:

- Small parts bins with clear lids allow quick identification of contents.

- Tool racks can hold wrenches, putty knives, pliers and small hammers.

- Specially-designed holders contain screw-drivers/drill bits.

- A wall pocket can hold manuals, warranties, garden gloves or sandpaper.

Many of the above components will snap into a tool caddy for added convenience. They also can be easily attached to wall board or to perfor-board with peg hook adapters.

Other points to consider:

- Store bulky items such as seed, fertilizer, wood chips and soil in containers that are sturdy and moisture resistant. Gardening materials sold in paper or plastic sacks, once opened, are vulnerable to tipping, moisture and invasion by pests. A durable plastic container with a tight-fitting lid makes an ideal container to prevent these mishaps.

Avoid trips back and forth to the storage area by keeping a tool caddy or storage container to hold garden gloves, hand tools and other supplies.

Decorating

by Mary
Leben

The following decorating tips are sure to bring a fresh new look to your home this spring.

From the moment they poke their heads up through the snow in early spring until they finally fade away in a blaze of glory in the fall, flowers make our outdoor world a more vibrant, colorful place.

Inside the home, flowers and floral patterns can also transform a basic decorating scheme into one that excites the eye and inspires the mood. Whether they are splashed openly on draperies, furnishings and carpets or displayed de-purely on tabletop boxes, vases or plates, flowers exude expression for our innate love of nature.

The secret to success in decorating with floral themes lies in the skillful way these items are selected and mixed. A disciplined approach will produce a carnival of color; an undisciplined one may result in a riotous clash. The best way to begin is to choose a color scheme and then build a decorating plan around it.

The next step is to decide how to express your color preference in a floral form design. The possibilities are almost limitless, so it's important to plan your decorating moves carefully. And try to visualize the room as a whole.

For walls, floral prints wallpaper or fabric offers the greatest range of choices, be it large or small flowered prints, tone-on-tone or rainbow florals, or faded or bright palettes.

Window treatments, such as floral-print draperies, swags and valances can also be used to give rooms a perennial touch. In some cases, window treatments can be coordinated with furniture, fabric, bedding or linens to be a decorating scheme together.

Floral prints on furnishings can range from muted to splashy, depending on the mood you're trying to create. And it doesn't hurt to mix and match fabric patterns—perhaps a sofa upholstered with a large floral bouquet pattern and side chairs covered with small rosebuds—as long as the color harmony is maintained. You should avoid combining too many unrelated floral patterns in a single room.

So bring the outdoors inside. Your rooms can bloom in a variety of ways, the choice is yours.

For most people, re-decorating means draping the couch with fabric books, paint samples and carpet swatches, piecing together a room that will appear bright, fresh and thoroughly impressive.

In the process it's easy to forget that the view framed by the window is a part of the room too, with rectangles of light, movement, color and shape as dramatic as any painting on the wall. If you pay attention to the view you can, without a great investment in time or money, accent and echo the decor you've chosen for your rooms.

The simplest alternative is to install window boxes outside your rooms, bringing flowers up so close that they serve to accent the room they are seen from as well as the outdoors. For the balcony or porch, container gardens are an ideal choice. Large, decorative containers can house a number of plantings providing an abundance of vibrant color. Remember "big" is important here because the virtual size of an outdoor porch, deck or veranda tends to dwarf standard houseplant pots.

From a distance of 30 or 40 feet, small flowers will be nearly invisible, so plant something big enough to see. That may mean big plants with big flowers, like lilies, or it may mean a bush like an azalea or lilac. Plants that you get at a distance across the yard will have less impact on your room's colors than those that are closer, but they can make a big contribution to how the room feels.

There is something special about sitting in your favorite chair while gazing out at your glorious display of fresh blooms and buds. It's an extension of the beauty you've provided indoors.

One of the enduring trends in the use of wall-covering is the border. If you desire to show your individuality or if you want to accentuate or create architectural interest where none exists, borders might be the answer.

For example, let's take room with a cathedral ceiling. A border applied to the wall at the ceiling level will accentuate the incline of the ceiling, especially if it is in a contrasting color to the ceiling and/or walls.

Accent existing crown molding by placing a border just beneath it. You can even use borders on the ceiling to create a unique effect.

What about a room without any interesting architectural features? Create visual interest by framing windows or doors with a border and continuing it along the room at chair rail height, or run it along the molding at floor level.

The size of the border you select is just as important as the subject. Do you want to make a statement or quietly add another dimension? Borders range in width from one inch to 24 inches, with four inches being the most common.

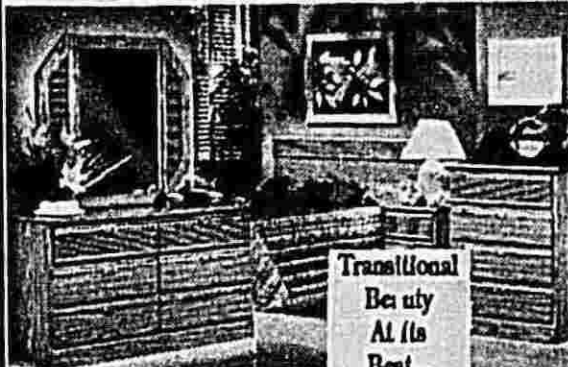

Do you have a room that could use a spark of interest? Consider borders for a big impact with little effort.

Send decorating questions to Mary Leben c/o Lakeland Newspapers, 30 S. Whitney St., Grayslake, IL. All questions will be answered.

saws, snowmobiles, or worn mufflers on automobiles. The problem is the home day care centers operated out of homes. It has been my understanding that this was restricted and not allowed in residential areas. When you open windows after a long winter, you get loud noises, yelling and crying coming through your windows. We live on a dead end street. I don't expect much to be done in Island Lake. These home day care centers lower property values. Selling your home will be more difficult if the kids and noise are present when a prospective buyer looks at your home. It seems that the homeowners who have been paying taxes for a long time are the big losers in this issue.

Support Local Business

This is to the person who would like a Target in Antioch. Let us enjoy our small town. Go to another town to shop if you want. Remember, your merchants in your town are supporting your town with sales tax. Keep them in business. They are very important. They also give you personalized and friendly service. You don't get that at a big store.

If you live in the Fox River Shores subdivision or in Island Lake, west of Greenleaf Avenue, you must provide transportation or have your child walk to the proposed new school. Kids are supposed to walk on busy Rte. 176? State law says that if you live within 1.5 miles of school, buses will not pick up your child. Don't let the school talk you into voting for a new school.

Not A Clip Out Book

This is an open letter to the person who removed the color illustrations from the large-print art book "Surrealism" at the Fremont Public Library. The book was purchased by all of us and for all of us. The book is not easily available and was expensive.

One More For Buffet

This is in response to the people who think Old Country buffets would solve all the world's problems. I'm sure this was to be a sarcastic comment in reference to two people who think it would be nice to have an Old Country Buffet. I go along with the people who would like an Old Country Buffet. Look at all the empty stores in Fox Lake. Look at Rollins and Cedar Lake roads in Round Lake. Wouldn't it be nice to have something in there, rather than another video store?

This Year, Vote!

I just want to say that everyone goes out to vote. I'm going to vote down this library tax and I hope everyone else does the same. The increase is ridiculous. I don't think the library will be any better off than it is now.

Congratulations

Congratulations, second and third grade iceless hockey boys' team, the Senators. You guys played hard and gave your parents a season to be proud of. You're No. 1 with us. Thanks to coaches Dave and John for their dedication to this team.

Keep On Stealing

I'm calling from Antioch and want to say that I'm going to keep stealing campaign signs and throwing them away. These political candidates think they can litter our whole town with signs and put them up anywhere they want to and tromp through our yards. I can't even put up a sign for my own business in my front yard because of the statutes they have and I will steal every political sign I see.

How About Them?

I love column and it's the main reason why I buy this paper. In these days of cutbacks, why doesn't the House of Representatives or Congress cut back, reduce wages and personnel? These people should be in office to represent us, not to just get paychecks. We pick on superintendents' and teachers' salaries while the people in Congress, etc. are making much more money and don't ever do anything. Nobody compares to Ross Perot in speaking ability and intelligence. I hope Ross runs again because I will vote for him once more.

It's Important

This is in response to "Signs, Signs, Signs." Yes, Round Lake Heights is a small village, but its management should be important to all its residents. At a time when two incomes are needed to support our families, it would be nice to have access to the village clerk's office. Being open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. just doesn't work anymore. Anyone willing to run and serve deserves support. People certainly don't run for the money. People are showing their desire for change by displaying signs. The people of Round Lake Heights support these people and donated the time, materials and money for the campaigns. I believe this is the American way.

We'd Be Better Off

I would like to respond to "Build Your Own School." I think that is absolutely ridiculous. I'm from Lindenhurst and I can't believe that this person is so ignorant to think that Lindenhurst and Lake Villa students are encroaching upon the Antioch students. If it weren't for the money from the Lake Villa and Lindenhurst taxpayers, that school would be absolutely nowhere. Not to mention, the brain trust the Lake Villa and Lindenhurst students add to that particular school. Believe me, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst would love to have their own school. We would have a better school.

Make Up Your Mind

I live in Round Lake Beach and we're having a problem. Not long ago, I found out that Great Lakes Naval Training Center was going to be off the "hit list." I was glad because I have a father that works at the base on the fire department. Now, I found out that the base is back on the list. Can the Department of Defense please get its act together? I would like to know if it's going to be on the list. What's the answer? Readers, if you have a heart, please keep the base open.

Raise Your Taxes

This is in response to the person from North Chicago who pays $1,200 in taxes each year. I hope, when your kids go to Libertyville and Lake Forest, they put your taxes up where Libertyville's and Lake Forest's taxes are. I'm from Grayslake and I pay more than $4,000 in (Continued on page 54)

Pitching best vs. friends rewarding for Buckingham

Much was made of the long-time friendship between Chicago Cubs starter Mike Morgan and his high school teammate, Gregg Maddux of the Atlanta Braves.

That was not the only special relationship on an area diamond Monday. While Maddux got the better of his old prep days chum, 1-0, Brian Buckingham was doing the same to his hometown Libertyville friends, with a 7-1 Carmel triumph.

The win was the second of the season for the Carmel senior, who calls the Wildcats teammates other than March through May.

"It is always special to beat Libertyville," Buckingham said. "Libertyville is a great team with great hitters. I admire them."

"In the Stevenson win, I went the whole way, but I felt stronger this game," Buckingham said.

The Corsairs planned to use the old friends approach the next day. Curt Salata, who is from Gurnee, was expected to face Warren.

Buckingham held Libertyville (2-1) to four hits and fanned three in another complete-game outing.

"He picked right where he left off last season. We expect him to take charge on the mound all the time. The second time out he pitched real well against Stevenson. He's a pitcher. He has good enough speed and command of his pitches," Carmel Coach Chuck Gandolfi said.

Buckingham put in the day's work in right around 100 pitches.

Carmel improved to 2-1 on the young season by using an aggressive style on the base paths, then scoring four runs in the sixth inning.

The aggressiveness almost cost Carmel in a controversial call in the fifth inning.

Jeff Bunker was at the plate and the bases were loaded with Carmel ahead 2-1. Al Ladet was first ruled out at the plate by the home plate umpire, but the call was changed, sparking a long debate between the umpires and Libertyville Coach Jim Panther.

"I was trying to steal home. I thought I was safe," Ladet said.

The senior believes the Corsairs, decked out in new uniforms this year, have a good shot at another East Suburban Catholic Conference title. A total of 11 hits does not hurt one's chances, either. "We're coming on; we're coming on," the outfielder said.

"I thought we saw a pretty good pitcher and we played a pretty good team. Our hitting is going to come around. I want us to be very aggressive around the bases and hit smart and have a quality at-bat. We try and think aggressive all the time," Gandolfi said.

Gandolfi reminded the Corsairs of that philosophy before they took the field against Rob Nettles, who gained a win in a doubleheader sweep of Grant.

Tony Longmire set the trend in the second inning. He walked, stole second and scored on a RBI single by designated hitter Jeff Schutz (two hits).

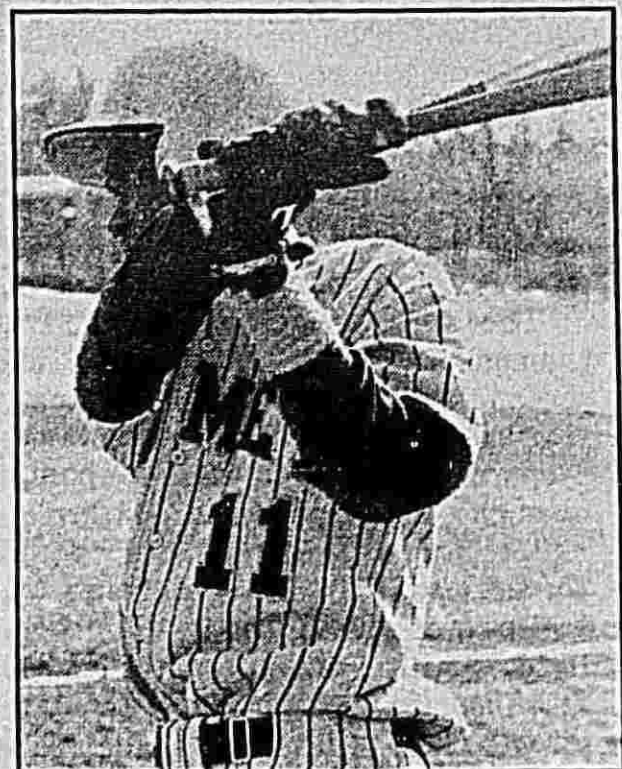

LHS tied the game in the second. Brandon Hunter and Jeremy Fellows walked. Hunter later scored as the Carmel infield committed a series of miscues. The game itself had seven errors.

Carmel took the lead in the fourth on two more LHS miscues and perfect infield hit by Schutz.

The debate at the plate seemed to open the flood gates for Carmel, who went on to score four more in the sixth. Buckingham, Matt Head and Ladet had RBI singles.

Baseball notebook:

The team to watch in the early going is Wauconda. The Bulldogs improved to 3-0 with a 5-1 win over Johnsburg. Steve Waldo earned his second win of the year....To duck or not to duck: that was the question facing press box sitters at LHS Monday. A foul ball challenged the glass in the multi-story press box. The glass won. I ducked...Get those zoom lenses out this year. A "media area" has been established, ending the long tradition of photogs lining up down the right-field foul area. The idea is safety and maybe insurance costs. And having a foul ball bounce off my chin a few years ago, I can understand why. Another safety measure: bullpen guards are now required to wear helmets.

CLC baseball squad starts Skyway season with a bang

College of Lake County baseball Coach Gene Hanson had good reason to be concerned about the Lancers' Skyway Conference opener at Oakton Tuesday.

"The teams in Florida were just too far along for us," Hanson said, referring to a 2-6-2 visit to the Sunshine State.

The Lancers bounced back with an 8-3, 7-2 doubleheader sweep over league rival Oakton. "We had much more intensity," Hanson said.

CLC hosts Skyway Conference rival McHenry at 12:30 p.m. April 10 in a doubleheader.

A freshman from Zion-Benton, Heath Cummings, may have symbolized the rejuvenated Lancers. He was in a one-for-18 funk hitting in Florida, but had a four-for-six day in Des Plaines.

"He also made a great catch in the third inning on a fly ball down the left-field line. He is just a solid player. He can play left field and infield," Hanson said.

Dan Torrens was the winner in the first game. Antioch's Scott Lucadello made his CLC debut a success by picking up the second game win.

Dan Strom, the most consistent hitter on the southern trip, was two-for-four.

Lucadello went six innings, striking out two and walking for in game two. Mike Medel pitched the final inning.

"We had three double plays. That's a big boost for us. In Florida, we had the opportunities, but we could not take advantage of them," Hanson said.

Strom and Steve Karolewicz were three-for-four each. Strom, of Libertyville, had three runs-batted in. CLC's bats were hot, with 22 hits.

Strom hit .416 in Florida. Steve Karolewicz, Rick Young and Brian Garriety were all over .300. "But the rest were at .200 or below," Hanson said.

CLC's wins came in a sweep of Seminole Junior College by 7-2 counts. Torsen and Andy Burks gained the wins.

MHS looking to continue a strong softball tradition

It looks impressive on the all-conference lists to have five players chosen from the same school.

But when three of those players return, it is indeed true testimony to the success of a program. And that is the position Mundelein's girls softball team finds itself happily in as junior Tiffany Campbell, seniors Terilyn Starkey and Sara Hamm all are back. Campbell was the only sophomore on the all-league team.

Mundelein has won the NSC for eight years now, with a 15-1 mark last spring en route to a regional title.

Lindsay Prezell returns to the mound as the top pitcher for MHS. Mandy Miller is expected pitch as well. Prezell will try and carry on in the tradition of strong MHS pitchers. Pam Wiesner, a 19-game winner last year, graduated.

"We do not have a lot of experience in pitching. Prezell pitched in eight games and Miller zero last year," Mundelein Coach Perry Wilhelm said. "Prezell has picked up a lot of confidence."

The infield remains mostly intact from last year's 26-6 contingent. Stacy Beese is back at first base; Hamm is at second; Campbell, who hit better than .300 is back at shortstop. Namoi Salazar and Katie Foley are battling for third.

Although the Mustangs have all-but owned the NSC race for almost a decade, Wilhelm is not taking anything for granted.

"Lake Forest, who went to state two years ago, is the team to beat; Antioch had a good year and won a regional and Libertyville should be tough," the coach said.

Mundelein, weather permitting, hosts Hersey April 10 at 10:30 a.m. in a non-conference doubleheader.

Rally sparks Carmel win

Carmel High School's aggressive style of baseball claimed another victim as the Corsairs rallied to down Warren 3-2.

CHS improved to 3-1 on the season and ruined the debut for Warren Coach Dar Townsend.

Curt Salata picked up the win for Carmel.

The game-winning inning started when Jeff Schutz was hit by a pitch and was pinch-run for by Eric Janssens. Brian Buckingham singled, Jeff Bunker walked and Kevin Conarchy singled to provide Carmel with the exciting win in Mundelein.

"We had 12 runners, but Warren gave up 10 walks and two hits-batsman. We had a lot of chances," Carmel Coach Chuck Gandolfi said.

Carmel scored an earlier run in the third as a Warren throw went over the catcher's head.

Salata finished with six strikeouts and two walks against many of his former teammates.

Leginski helped his own cause with two singles.

Weather delays opening

Heavy rains and snow on March 31 coupled with an already wet spring resulted in a delay of the start of the 40th Anniversary of Wilmot Speedway to April 17.

In addition, Toft Auto Racing officials postponed the Modified and Sportsman inspection originally scheduled for April 3 to April 10. Inspection will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Speedway.

"With the added time, we hope more competitors are able to have their cars complete so they can go through the inspection process prior to the opener," Chuck Olson, chief pit steward who will oversee the inspection, said.

"It was looking promising until the last storm," promoter Toft said.

Sprints, Winged-modifieds and sportsman will be in action April 17. Grandstands open at 5 p.m. with the sprint time trials at 6:15 p.m. and the first race at 6:45 p.m.

Skyhawks look to blend best of two winning teams

Every time one turned around last spring, the Johnsbury girls softball team was winning.

The varsity squad posted a 22-2 record and the sophomores were also better than 20 wins. "We won 18 in a row before we lost the second one," Johnsbury Coach Jim Meyers said. Unfortunately, the varsity's second loss came in the regional final game to McHenry, an 8-1 defeat. The varsity and sophomores had 44 wins between them.

The Skyhawks, like all Lake County teams, had a late start to say the least in their bid to continue the winning ways.

"Today (Sunday) was the first time off the blacktop. This has got to be the worst spring in 23 years in terms of not being able to play. Our track has two feet of snow on it at one end. I could not even move it with my snowblower," Meyers said.

But crying over spoiled weather forecasts has never been the Skyhawks style, as a conference title defense is at hand.

It won't be a Cinderella year for ACHS this year

The 1992 Regional champions could find the season tough going this year as area teams will be prepared to face the infamous "big" bats of the 1992 Sequoit Varsity Softball team.

However, ACHS Coach Judy Smithisler, after finishing that season in seventh place in the North Suburban Conference, her team will not be able to sneak up on teams the way they did late last season, largely due to the lack of power in her 1993 lineup.

"Our team has a great attitude this year," said Smithisler. "But, we are going to have to pitch well, play good, solid defense and swing the bats to win this year. We are not going to be able to surprise anyone this year."

As Smithisler eluded to, she will have to find a way to replace the huge bats of All-Conference players April Killman and Amy LaFontaine, and power hitter Janelle Maki.

Key returnees for the Sequoits will be senior pitcher Erin Bonales and senior shortstop Dawn Morley. However, another loss for Smithisler's team is senior outfielder Kathy Harris, who is out for two weeks with an ankle injury. Also injured is senior pitcher Erin Bonales, leaving Smithisler temporarily with only one pitcher.

Smithisler said will bring up sophomore Stephanie Montgomery to help bolster the outfield and play some third base. Junior pitcher Michelle Kilarski will be asked to carry a bigger load as the defense oriented Sequoits will score fewer runs this year.

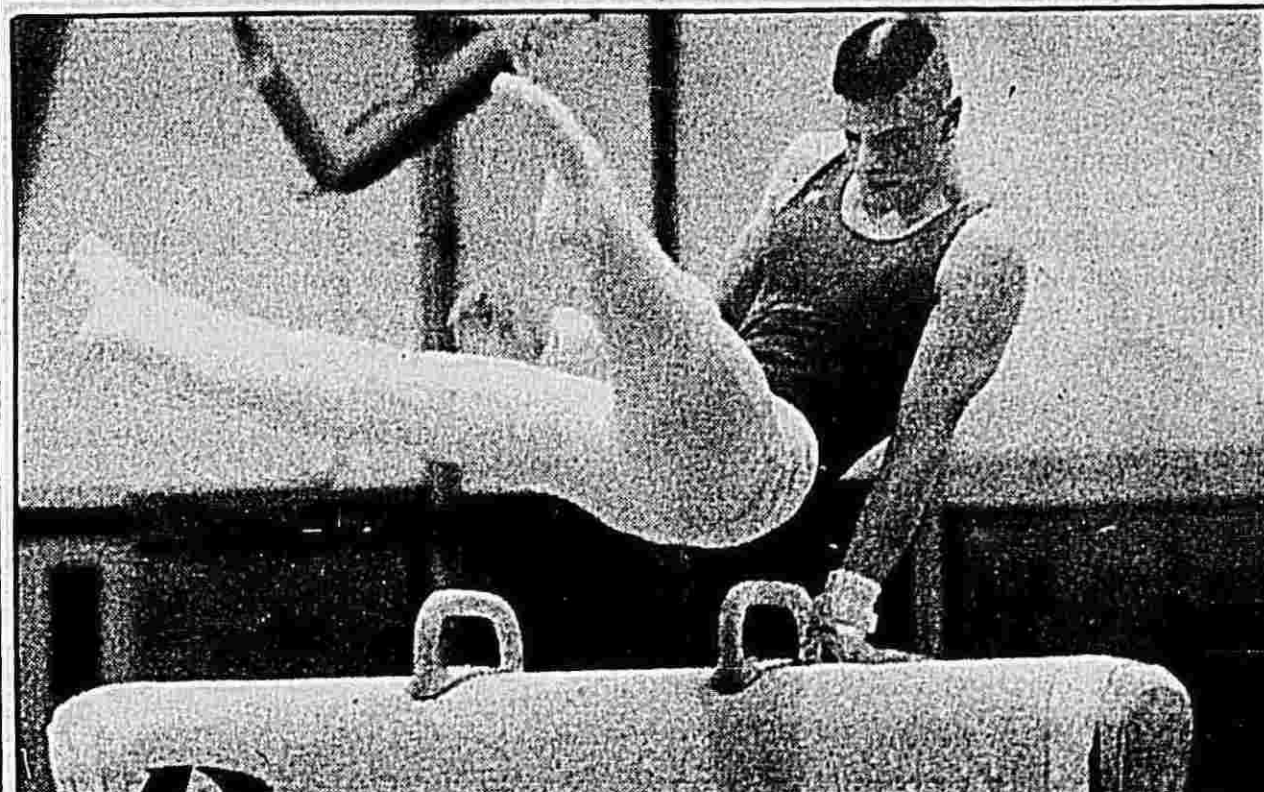

Other returning seniors are Megan Zeller, Sherri

Hagglund and JoAnn Peccarro. Juniors who could help later in the year are Courtney Shaughnessy, Donna Jedely, Amy Glenn, and Nicole Heancaen.

The Sequoits lost their season opener at Woodstock on April 6, 11-1 on what Smithisler called a lack of hitting.

"We just have to bring our bats to the game," said Smithisler.

Antioch faces Cary-Grove on April 10, Grant on April 12 and Lake Forest on April 12 and 13.

After surgery, I was amazed how soon I was back at work.

I kept postponing my operation.

Setting aside three to four weeks to recover seemed almost impossible. Then, I learned about the new Laser Care Center of Lake County at Victory Memorial Hospital.

Since 1987, Victory has performed over 2000 successful procedures and has the most extensive selection of lasers in Lake County. And with laser surgery, I experienced less bleeding, swelling and scarring, had less danger of infection, and a much shorter recovery time.

The entire staff of Victory's Surgery Department was wonderful. I was well-informed about procedures and pain management, and they even called me at home afterward to see how I was doing. My doctor says Victory has one of the best organized and most efficient surgical units in the area. He was right. I was really impressed with the care I received.

I hope I don't need any more surgery, but if I do, my choice will always be Victory.

Panthers softball squad set

Round Lake High School softball Coach Howard Schroeder would be very happy, indeed, if his team equaled last year's finish in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

The Panthers were 12-3 in the league, second behind Johnsbury and were 17-7 overall.

"This year, we are starting with losing six starters off last year's team," Schroeder said. "Hopefully, we will be able to finish in the top three of the conference, but we have a long road to hoe," Schroeder said.

The Panthers return seniors Susan Olson, second base and pitcher Monica Miszewski. Sophomore Sheila Belcher moves from third base to catcher.

"She has got some things to work on, but she is our best defensive catcher," Schroeder said.

Nicole Pollard is at first base, junior Sarah Alaimo expected to play at shortstop and Jamie Mielke is at third.

Scoreboard to inform race fans at Speedway this year

Toft Auto Racing, Inc., promoters of Wilmot Speedway in Wis., has announced the addition of a scoreboard for the 1993 season.

Through the involvement of CJW Distributing of Kenosha, Miller Genuine Draft along with R.C. Cola and 7-Up will be featured on the scoreboard, which will be located off turn two near the entrance to the pits. The top three positions along with laps completed will be shown. During time trials, the car which is timing in as well as the actual lap time will be displayed as it happens. In addition a message center will continuously flash upcoming events, greetings, etc.

"We appreciate the involvement of Miller Genuine Draft, R.C. Cola and 7-Up in enabling us to add the scoreboard to the track facility," said promoter Raymond P. Toft. "We're sure the spectators and competitors alike will appreciate the added information which will be available to them."

Plans are to have the scoreboard installed and operating by May 1.

Miller Genuine Draft will sponsor each of the 1993 All Star/the Club Sprints Circuit of Champions events at "Wisconsin's Clay Center of Speed." The nationally touring series makes its only stops in Wisconsin on Thursdays, June 3 and July 29. The July date will be in conjunction with the 12th Annual Wilmot Open Sprints. Mini-sprints will also run each date.

The Speedway's annual Race Against Drugs Night will be on Saturday, Aug. 7 sponsored by R.C. Cola and 7-Up.

The previously announced Mini-Sprint Nationals which was to be part of the Kenosha County Fair events in August have been canceled due to unanticipated conflicts with fair events. Toft Auto Racing is attempting to reschedule the Nationals. The revised Fair racing schedule calls for sprints and mini-sprints on Friday, Aug. 20. On Saturday, Aug. 21 will feature sprints and sportsman. The demolition derby will be on Sunday, Aug. 21 with two rounds planned, one each at 2:30 and 6 p.m.

For the second consecutive season, Reed-Randle Ford of Waukegan, will provide the Speedway with a 1993 Ford F-150 Pickup Official Pace Vehicle. The Pace Vehicle debuted at the Wisconsin Motorsports Show in January and was also displayed during the 16th Annual BARS "Let's Go Racing" Motorsports Show in Waukegan in March.

Wilmot Speedway plans to give the green flag to its 40th Anniversary Season on Saturday, April 10 with sprints, winged-modifieds, mini-sprints and mini-modifieds in an all open-wheel program.

On April 17, sportsman will be added with sprints and winged modifieds on the card. Beginning April 24 and each Saturday except the Fair date will feature sprints, modifieds and sportsman with mini-sprints and mini-modifieds alternating weeks.

Persons desiring a revised schedule should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Toft Auto Racing, P.O. Box 786, Antioch, 60002. Businesses interested in sponsoring opportunities should contact Mike Babicz at 689-4531.

Wasik, Mustangs near best

When Mundelein's Jon Wasik is at his best, area foes should watch out.

When Wasik is at his best and the Mustangs field a complete team, shades of the back-to-back state championship seasons have a tendency to appear.

Mundelein topped second-place Homewood-Flossmoor by almost 20 points, 152.7 to 135.55 in winning the Foerch Invitational Saturday at Naperville North.

"When people see a score of 151 then 152, they may not think much of it. But we have yet to put together a full lineup," Mundelein Coach Doug Foerch said.

"That was Wasik's best meet by far," Foerch said. "Wasik is right on schedule. With one or two moves, he should be able to take the state all-around title," Foerch said.

Wasik won first in the floor exercise (9.4); pommel horse (9.2); parallel bars (8.9) and vaulting (9.1). He was second on the still rings and the horizontal bar.

Patriots select new mentors

Adlai Stevenson High School has named new girls volleyball and girls cross country coaches.

Leanne Ulmer is the new girls volleyball coach while Hank Andrew will assume the girls cross country duties.

Ulmer comes to Stevenson from Southern California. She played college volleyball at the University of California-Riverside from 1977-79, playing on the national championship team in 1978 and earning all-American honors.

In 1979, she was drafted into the Women's Professional Basketball League and in 1987 she was elected to University of Riverside-California Sports Hall of Fame.

Previously she, was head volleyball coach at San Geronimo High School in San Bernadino, Calif. She has been a professional golf instructor before moving to Illinois.

She resides in Long Grove.

Ulmer replaces Bob Schenk, who resigned after more than 200 wins and three straight Super-sectional teams. He will coach at Cathage College.

Andrew is head track coach and physical education coordinator at the Lincolnshire school.

Calacci, Bullman earn letters

A Grant High School and a Lake Zurich High school graduate both participated on Elmhurst College teams this winter.

Janelle Bullman, a 6-1 freshman center, earned a first-year letter. She is an Ingleside resident.

The women's team struggled, with a 12-game losing streak ending the season.

Elmhurst finished 6-18, 2-12 in the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin.

Scott Calacci, a 150-pound wrestler from Lake Zurich, earned non-letter participant honors. He is a Long Grove resident.

'Blue Devil softball fans hope new faces bring wins

Warren Twp. High School's girls softball fans may very well have to bring scorecards to the Blue Devils games this year.

For Warren has that many new faces, including the person in the third-base coaches' box.

"I'm glad we have a few more days inside," new mentor Joyce Norton said.

Norton was selected to head the program after Dar

Townsend, softball coach for two years, took the head baseball job. Norton will head the varsity Warren squad after having coached the sophomore squad. She was a long-time assistant at Grayslake High, where she helped the Rams for 11 years.

"I believe in challenging the opponent and you learn best by playing better teams," Norton said.

Norton, a Grayslake resident, is not a coach rests and tells strategy. She played 12 inch ASA fast-pitch softball and has umpired.

She believes that girls softball players need a break from the sport, hence the few days off in the mist of summer-like temperatures. "They need to take some time off and take a breath," Norton said.

The Blue Devils figure to be a young squad, with three sophomores and four seniors and several juniors.

Jill Chumbley returns as a pitcher and second baseman from last year's squad, which battled around the .500 level. Catcher-outfielder Shawn Gebhardt and outfielder Marlene Elfering are back. Another senior, out for the first time, is Kelly Semtana. Semtana is no stranger to Blue Devil fans, as she was a standout in volleyball.

Dawn Raudio, a sophomore, will be Miss Versatility for Warren. She can play third, pitch, catch and the outfield. "She is quick and she should be a pretty good player," Norton said. Raudio's sister, Jolene, played on last year's team.

Juniors looking to see playing time are: Erin Walker at shortstop and first base; Tiffany Corbeil, a member of the North Suburban Conference champion bowling team at pitcher and first; Jenny Slobodzian and Michelle Needer, both pitchers and outfielders.

All Warren pitchers are right-handers.

Sophomores on the team, in addition to Raudio, are third baseman Jody Botsford and infielder Amy Jensen.

As for the NSC, Libertyville could be the team to beat. But Norton likes to recall what happened the final day of the 1992 season.

"Their sophomores were undefeated, but we gave them their first loss of the year," Norton said.

The Blue Devils' conference opener, weather permitting, is April 13 at Stevenson.

CLC softball squad finds unity, wins in its trip west

While high school softball teams waited out the last punches of winter, College of Lake County's squad headed to the Valley of the Sun and came home with three wins in 10 games of an Arizona trip.

The trip featured the emergence of Robin Hortin as the team's "stopper", while April Killman and Sharon Allen both hit better than .300. CLC was going up against teams which had played in more than 30 games and the experience showed as the Lancers were the victims of a perfect game.

CLC's wins were all by Hortin, who pitched in nine of the 10 games and was 3-4. CLC downed Mesa 5-1 after losing 3-1. The Lancers downed South Mountain 7-6 and 11-9. CLC dropped a doubleheader to Tima and Glendale.

Like the Cubs, the CLC softball squad left Mesa, Arizona with good feelings. "This was our most successful trip yet. Our defense has improved since we have got going," CLC Coach Sue Garcia said.

Allen and Kelly Damron shared the pitching duties with Hortin, but it was the first time on the mound for them.

"We made contact with the ball in the first game against Mesa. One of their players told one of our players she was impressed with how we hit the ball," Garcia said.

Kiki Johnson was three-for-five in both Mesa games, Killman was two-for-five and Allen had a triple.

CLC had 12 hits in the two wins over South Mountain. Allen was .500 four-for-eight; Carmel grad Eileen VanHirselle two-for-four and Killman three-for-seven.

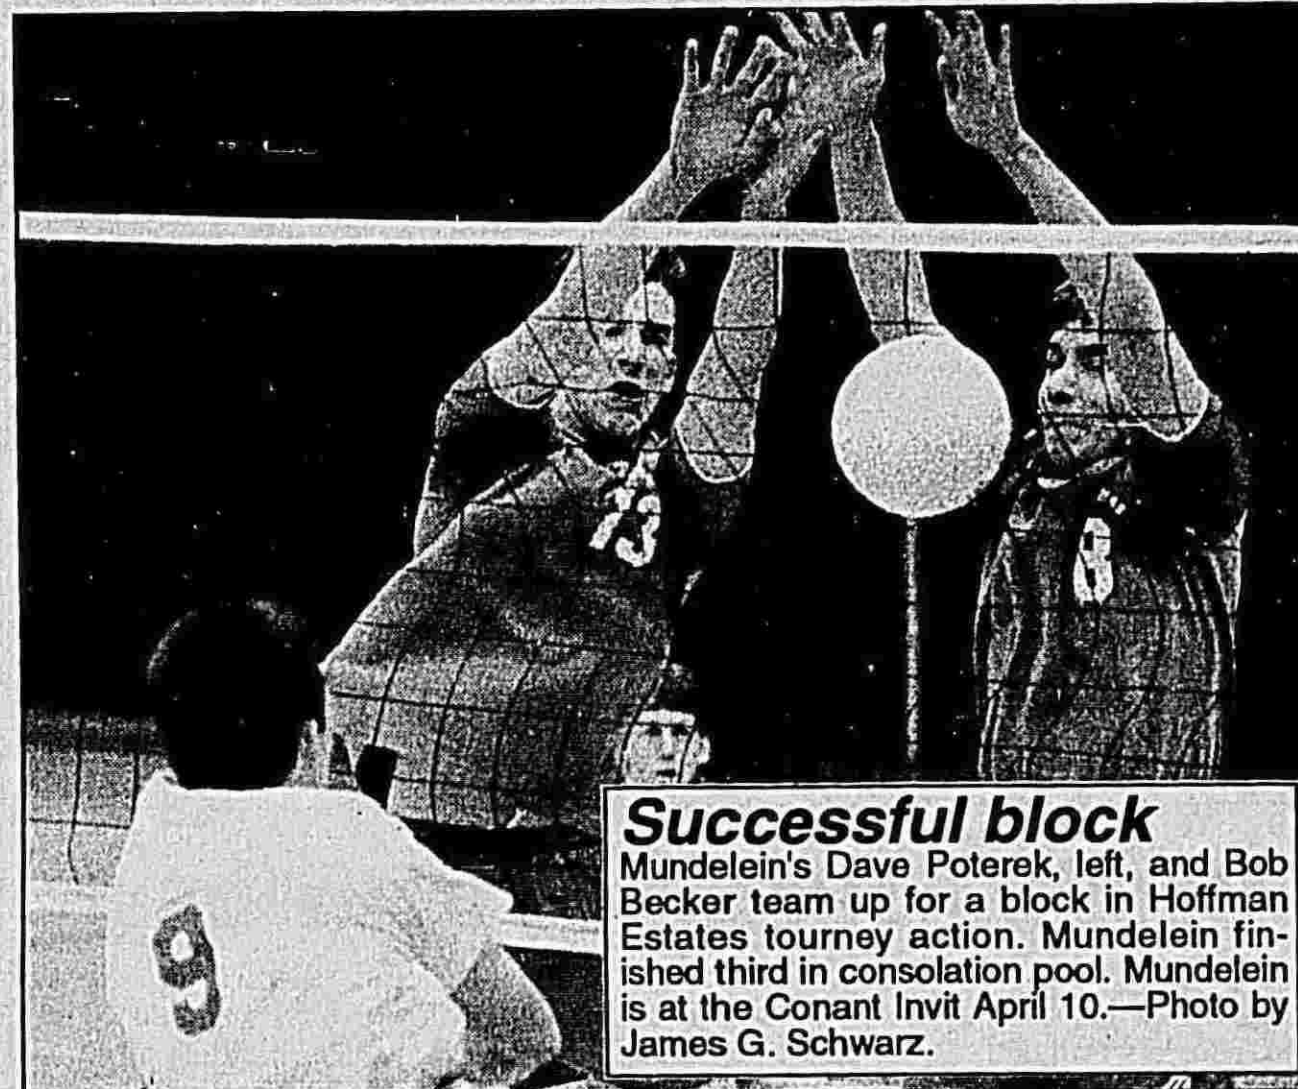

CLC was down 3-1 in the fifth inning before a rally led the visitors from the north to prevail.

CLC was down 7-2 in the fifth in game two before scoring seven runs in the fifth inning.

Killman finished the trip as the leading hitter with a .375 average, nine-for-24. Allen was eight-for-24, .333.

The Lancers more than met their match in a 4-0 loss to Tima in which they fell victim to the perfect game. "We had great defense, but we could not get the bat on the ball," Garcia said.

The Lancers had three Skyway Conference games scheduled this week, but the betting man put the money on the old stand-by "uba - to be announced".

Full-time freedom for mentally ill

The upbeat atmosphere and attractive surroundings of the Center reflect the pride of the members. Job training and independent living skills are the main goals of Independence Center, but support, friendship and social skills are important, too.

by CONNIE KINDSVATER

"It's one place where we can come and be ourselves," said Linda, one of the mentally ill members at the Independence Center "clubhouse" on Washington Street in Waukegan.

"We come in the morning," said Billy, another member, "and we stay all day because we like it here, we have tasks to do and we're getting trained for outside jobs."

The members find out about the Center from friends, social workers or the Department of Rehabilitation, Billy explained.

"And, once you're a member you are always a member," Billy said.

The Center is open Monday through Friday, and one Saturday a month. It is also open for most holidays.

A large task board holds all of the day's tasks, which also translate into job-training skills. In the morning, each member chooses which task he/she will perform that day, and then removes that task card from the board.

The concept is simple—everyone has a job to do at the Center, and all of the jobs are important. Members may choose to work in the Snack Shop, the lunchroom, the kitchen, on the newspaper staff or to do typing chores; someone will be a receptionist and someone else will work on the maintenance team. Everyone contributes.

"We work and we learn, but we have fun, too," said Linda. "We go bowling, go on field trips and go over to the Y.M.C.A. for exercise."

Billy said he likes to give tours of the Center.

"This is real; everyone's piece is important," said Executive Director Mike Pierce. "The clubhouse won't work unless everyone does his part, and the staff doesn't ask the members to do anything that they wouldn't do."

"Many of our members have gone through college," Pierce said. "They come in homeless and mentally ill; they come in and we set them up in an apartment."

"They can 'blossom,' get real jobs and go on — there are many success stories," said Pierce.

Independence Center works closely with employers in the community to provide time-limited, part-time jobs to members. The Transitional Employment Program (TEP) is for members whose traditional competitive employment has been interrupted or unavailable.

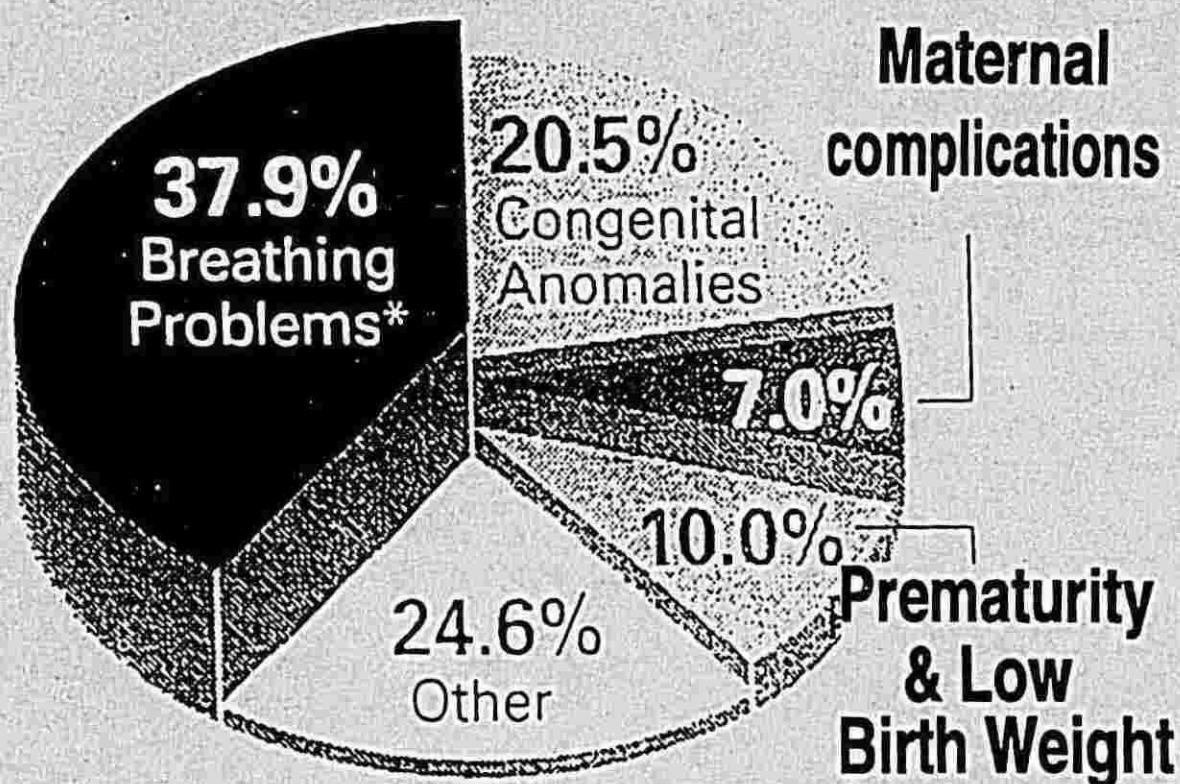

One of the seven staff persons from the Independence Center works alongside of the TEP employee, teaching the skills necessary to perform all of the job duties. For six months the member does that 20-25 hours-per-week job, then rotates it to another member.

Katherine Doyle, assistant director and coordinator of Job Placements, explained that job responsibility is a key concept at the Center; if a member cannot go to the job for any reason, one of the staff will go instead. The Independence Center makes a strong commitment to the employer; that (Continued on page 37)

'March' to help save infants from defects

In an effort to help develop methods to prevent the death of infants, thousands of people in Lake County will participate in a Walk-a-thon in Waukegan later this month.

Participants in the walk scheduled for April 25, which begins at the Belvidere Park Recreation Center in Waukegan and ends at 412 South Lewis Avenue, are expected to raise in excess of $60,000 to go to the March of Dimes.

The March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation Greater Chicago area Chapter was the first organization to hold a walk-a-thon to raise funds for research, education, community services and public affairs to prevent infant deaths and illnesses such as cystic fibrosis, Down's Syndrome and sickle-cell anemia.

"There are over 3,000 known birth defects," said Ed Schultz of the Greater Chicago Chapter. "Currently research is being done to solve the problem of inherited diseases by gene therapy. We try to raise funds for the research in the hopes of preventing some of the ailments."

Gene therapy has progressed since the research began. Currently, some genes have been determined the cause of specific birth defects. Researcher now are attempting to find ways to isolate the gene and develop a corrective measure to be used on babies immediately after birth. Hopefully, the research will provide a method of stopping the (Continued on page 37)

Obstacles to intimacy with self and others

April 21, 1993 7-8 p.m.

Presented by:

Kenneth Isaacs, Ph.D.
Staff Psychologist
Saint Therese Medical Center

Millions of us live with an incomplete capacity for experiencing life. This sort of trouble is usually undramatic, with the pain unnoticed by others, and may manifest quietly in any of several ways:

- We may have an unpleasant sense of distance from others - although we crave closeness.
- We occasionally experience a general sense of alienation from self or world - there is a sense of strangeness or weirdness to our experience.
- We have doubts and are indecisive about minor or major matters - we sometimes can't decide what to eat or wear, or choose a career or whom to marry.
- Our lives seem aimless, empty, or colorless
- Vitality is missing in our experiencing of daily life. We have little zest for anything we do.

This program is an opportunity to obtain some valuable information about achieving a more fulfilling life.

Dr. Isaacs is a staff psychologist with Saint Therese Medical Center and is in private practice in Evanston.

Melissa, 10 and Michael, 9

Ray McKinney learned how to help others when his father, a printer, was not home to help McKinney's brother with his leg brace. So as a boy, he was molded to help others.

"I always wanted to help people," McKinney said. "I knew I wanted to get into orthotics and prosthetics when I had to fix my brother's brace. I was about 10-years-old then."

As he grew older, McKinney never lost sight of that development, and when he was exposed to prosthetics in the Vietnam War, he made the decision to enter the field of prosthetics.

After the war, McKinney finished his degree at Northwestern University, and seven years later, he opened his own business.

"There was such a need in Lake County," he said. "I wanted people to feel they could go locally for good service and care."

McKinney continues his caring through special creations. His philosophy is to look forward, never look behind.

"I think it's important to try the state of the art components out there," he said. "I do everything I can to help people. They deserve that."

Freedom

part-time job will always get done--the employer can count on it.

The Center offers a Supported Employment Program (SEP) for members who require ongoing support to retain employment. Staff personnel help members keep jobs for extended periods of time.

"Everyone can work at their own pace here," explained Pierce. "Those that are highly motivated to work and learn to assume responsibility will be successful."

Some members have their Master's degrees; others don't yet have their G.E.D.'s. For members who want to take college classes, the Supported Education Program works in conjunction with the College of Lake County, and Independence Center staff work with the members to help them register for classes.

The Independence Center doors opened in July, 1989, according to Pierce. The only qualifications to join are to have a history of mental illness and to be over 18; currently the facility has 120 active members, and approximately another 120 who are inactive, Pierce said.

"Mental illness is a long-term situation," added Pierce. "The lives of our members can stabilize, or they can face some roller-coaster periods. Our philosophy is that we are going to be with our members--for the long haul."

One-third of the members live at home with their families, one-third live on their own and one-third live in structured places such as group homes. The Center has a housing program to help members find a place to live.

Started by the Alliance for the Mentally Ill in Libertyville, the Center is now funded partly by a grant from the Department of Mental Health, the Department of Rehabilitation, DORS, private foundations and United Way of Lake County. One-third of the budget comes from private donations and fundraising efforts.

Growing from the first Fountain House in New York City in the early 60s, Independence Houses and Fountain Houses for the mentally ill also exist in Milwaukee, Madison and St. Louis, in the Midwest, and are as far away as England and Denmark.

On June 12, the Waukegan Independence Center will have a Flea Market as a fund raiser.

If anyone has "recyclable" items to donate, call Pierce at 360-1020.

WalkAmerica, as the walk-a-thon is deemed, takes place in 1,450 communities nationwide, with almost one million people participating.

Last year, Lake County contributed 603 walkers out of 13,373 in the Greater Chicago Area and raised $61,991 out of $1.17 million.

This year, nearly 15,000 people are expected to participate in the walk to raise $1.5 million, Schultz said. For more information, or to register to walk, call the Walkline at (800) 538-1162. — by HEATHER McDONALD

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: On an interview last month, I was told that if the position was offered to me, that I would be paid at a specific salary plus benefits which included medical and dental coverage. The employer went on to say that should I opt not to take the medical and dental coverage, that I would be paid at a higher salary. I personally was intrigued by this as my husband has excellent family coverage and the additional benefits are nice, but unnecessary. Is this a new trend? G.D. - Libertyville

A: Dear G.D. I hear more and more of employee oriented companies that want to cut unnecessary costs wherever possible and give back what they can to their employees. Quite often, with a dual income family, one or both providers may complete family coverage included in their package. While insurance is a great benefit in any position, there may be a contribution to the company on the part of the employee to obtain these benefits. If both parties are contributing to their insurance package it may be an unnecessary expense and little advantage. Of course one can say you can never have too much insurance, however, if it is costing additional monies out of your pocket and it isn't needed, you have too much. There are employers who are taking this into consideration and in doing so have found that quite often they are giving out insurance when not needed by the employee and in turn are offering the employee a higher salary if the employee chooses to waive the insurance package. In many cases the difference can be substantial, however, insurance packages do vary, so, if you or anyone you know should run up against this type of situation again, please be sure to obtain a copy of the employers insurance package and weigh it against your spouses policy to be sure that your family is covered as thoroughly as possible. Be sure to look for things such as maternity coverage, disability coverage and emergency room services to name a few.

Q: Dear...Search: Just a note to say thank you for the information you give to us readers every week. Job hunting is a difficult task to begin with, but it is nice to know you dedicate your column to help others with sound professional advice. Keep up the good work! A.P. - Vernon Hills

A: Dear A.P. Thank you. Your note was much appreciated. Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy c/o Lakeland Newspapers,

BUCKINGHAM

OVERALL DIMENSIONS: 70'-0" X 57'-0"
LIVING: 3198 square feet
GARAGE: 674 square feet

BUCKINGHAM (332-990)
By Landmark Designs, Inc.

Welcome home. The Buckingham sings out that message, loud and clear. Windows fill most of the front facade, creating an open look, while gables and a wide front porch amplify the effect. Partial brick columns and lattice work in the brick foundation add a unique touch. A ramp provides wheelchair accessibility and inner doors are also wide.

This is an expandable home. Everything an average family needs is on the 2,200 square foot main floor. If more living space is required now, or later, another 1,000 square feet can be developed upstairs. The optional second floor plan adds three bedrooms, two of them quite large, and compartmentalized bathroom with twin lavs. Plenty of attic space still remains available for storage.

Family living is at the heart of the home, in a comfortably sized kitchen/family room. Secondary bedrooms are to the left and quiet rooms - living room and owners' suite - are on the right, well-isolated from the everyday commotion created by healthy, active children.

The kitchen is bright and spacious. Glass, including a garden window and a glass door, fills most of the wall that faces the deck. A large corner fireplace, open on two sides, allows appreciation of flames from anywhere in the kitchen or family room. Cooktop, ovens and an eating bar are built into a long work island that expands the already generous counter space. A small bathroom is close to everything.

Formal dining is to the left of the entry. To the right is a uniquely shaped vaulted living room, brightened by a dormer window.

Face-frame cabinetry provides double access to the walk-in pantry. Utilities and another closet are just a few steps away. Amenities in the utility room include a fold-down ironing board, deep sink and a counter. This room is also adjacent to the entrance from a two-car garage with locked storage, a workshop and a recycling center.

Luxuries in the owners' suite include a large walk-in closet, enclosed toilet and shower, spa-tub, dual vanity and security system.

The swing room can be used as an office, nursery, sewing room, or whatever the family needs.

For a study plan of the BUCKINGHAM (332-990), send $9.00, or for a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home designs, send $20.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering.)

Pace alters bus routes

A number of changes have been slated for Pace suburban routes operating from its northern division in Waukegan.

Due to low ridership, Saturday service is being eliminated on Pace Rte 562 Gurnee via Sunset. The last day of Saturday service will be April 17. For riders who have used this route to reach the area surrounding Victory Memorial Hospital, Pace Rte. 561 Castlecrest via McAree may be a possible alternative.

Pace Rte. 572 Hawthorn Center will continue to operate Saturdays on Washington Street.

On Rte. 571 Zion, a small number of trips serving Horizon Village will be discontinued beginning Monday, April 19. Buses will no longer travel on the loop formed by Lewis Ave, Rosecrans Road, Kenosha Road and 21st Street in Zion.

Also on April 19, minor adjustments will be made on Rte. 570 Fox Lake — Gurnee Mills via College of Lake County and on Rte. 572 Hawthorn Center-Waukegan to improve connections at the College of Lake County.

For more information, call Pace Passenger Services Dept. at 364-PACE.

SIU lists graduates

A total of 1,297 graduate and undergraduate students earned degrees from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale for the fall semester.

Lake County residents earning degrees are Jennifer A. Sweeney of Antioch, Casey A. Panichi of Fox River Grove, Glenn D. Robb of Wildwood, Tony L. Vega of Grayslake, David L. Oheim and Derek L. Shelton of Gurnee, Greg J. Nenni of Hawthorn Woods, Kathleen Constantine and Jeffrey M. White of Libertyville, Collette M. Hunter of McHenry and Christine Boatright of Mundelein.

Construction continues at Van Patten

As spring arrives in Lake County, the final phase of renovating Van Patten Woods Forest Preserve near Wadsworth begins. Construction of a new handicap-accessible playground and completion of the new road and parking system has been approved by the board of commissioners.

Landscaping and construction of one more picnic shelter is also scheduled for this year. The three-year renovation of the preserve is scheduled for completion this autumn.

CLC forms literacy partnership with four businesses

The College of Lake County in partnership with four area companies have begun a $1 million workplace literacy program that is expected to be a model for such training. The 18-month program will consist of on-site skills assessment testing and training conducted by CLC at Abbott Laboratories in North Chicago, Baxter Healthcare in Round Lake, MacLean-Fogg in Mundelein and Metalex, a division of the Milwaukee-based Koller Group in Libertyville.

"The four participating companies are leaders in developing workplace literacy programs in Lake County," said CLC President Daniel J. LaVista. "We see our partnership as a model for how the college and area businesses can work together to develop a technologically skilled workforce that can compete with workers anywhere in the world."

"The program is a tremendous win-win opportunity. The participating companies will receive customized training. Employees will be empowered with new skills. The college will learn valuable information about industry and community needs that can be applied to developing future curriculum. All of that will benefit the community as a whole."

Dredging eyed for channels

The Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency plans to dredge three channels in Lake County, according to the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

Channels slated for dredging are Lotus Channel, south of Channel Lake; Poplar Channel, west of Channel Lake; and Lotus Woods Channel, which extends along the west side of Nippersink Lake from near the Grass Lake Road bridge to the Rte. 12 bridge. The agency has now filed for pertinent permits from the Div. of Water Resources.

All interested persons, either favoring or opposing the proposed projects, should send written comments to the Northern Area Office of the Div. of Water Resources, 201 W. Center Court, Schaumburg, IL 60196.

The proposed dredging of Lotus and Poplar Channels involves excavation of the channels to a depth of 6-feet at the centerlines with the use of an amphibious backhoe.

An estimated 6,400 cubic yards and 19,700 cubic yards are proposed to be dredged from the Lotus and Poplar channels respectively, and taken by truck to upland locations.

The proposed dredging of Lotus Woods Channel involves the use of a hydraulic dredge with pumping through pipe to the containment site on Ackerman Island.

To avoid interference with navigation, the pipe would be submerged below the navigation channel south of the Grass Lake Road.

The centerline of the channel would be excavated to 6-feet and an estimated 98,000 cubic yards of material would be removed from the channel.

factors that affected the Antioch Community High School Budget

- The value of our land has risen dramatically in the last ten years. The state gives ACHS money based on the land value. As the value goes up, the school gets less.
- State and Federal unfunded mandates ensure a safe and equal education for all students in the state, but they have to be paid for by local taxes.
- The high school enrollment and variable costs are increasing faster than revenue.
- The 5% cap has limited the revenue that ACHS receives, so local funds can not offset the loss of state funding.

Last year the ACHS School Board approved a budget which included $850,000 savings to the tax payers; but the lost revenues in both 1991 and 1992 were $1,000,000 each year.

Why I will vote to raise my taxes on April 20th.

In two years the deficit in the Education Fund, created by the decrease in state funding for education and the increase in enrollment at Antioch Community High School, will be eliminated.

Easter customs and trivia

•Years ago, on Easter Eve, a young man would send a gift of gloves to the young lady of his choice. If the young lady wore the gloves to church services the next day, it meant she wanted to go steady—with marriage a strong possibility.

•Eggs have always been regarded as symbols of life and resurrection—that is one reason for their popularity this time of year. Egg exchanging is the oldest of all spring customs.

•Many Christians believe the lamb symbolizes the sacrifice of Jesus.

•To some ancient peoples, the rabbit was considered to be a symbol of the moon.

•Easter never comes before March 22 or after April 25.

•Many years ago, Easter was called "Sunday of Joy."

•Wearing new clothes for Easter is an idea derived from the old custom of wearing white robes while being received into the church at this time of year.

taxes each year and we have trouble in our schools. I can see why you have trouble in your district. Send your kids somewhere else and let somebody else pay for them.

Not A Good Plan

This is in response to the Antioch citizen who wants Lake Villa and Lindenhurst to build their own school. I'm a Lake Villa resident and I paid more than $1,000 in taxes to the Antioch High School Dist. last year. I don't have a child at the school. By my calculations, if all the Lake Villa and Lindenhurst tax dollars were deducted from the ACHS budget and the 500 students were educated at a Lake Villa high school, Antioch would be in more trouble than it is now. A facility built in Lake Villa students wouldn't be in any better shape. The arrangement is mutually beneficial to both communities.

Keep It To Yourself

I recall about two weeks ago that a student said grungewear is ruining her eighth grade year. That is stupid because it's somebody's opinion to wear what they wish to wear. It shouldn't ruin your school year. If you believe it's not right, then you should just believe that and keep it to yourself.

New School Is Needed

I'm an eighth grade student at Lake Villa Intermediate and I thank the board of education for not cutting the activities for another year. I also agree with last week's person that Lake Villa and Lindenhurst should build their own school. It's getting way too crowded. I think a new high school is desperately needed.

Do Something About It

I go to St. Gilbert School and during the past two weeks we've had articles about the prep and grungy thing. I would like to say that we can't keep writing about this issue in the newspaper. We have to do something about it so our eighth-grade year can be saved.

Certificates Needed

I'm responding to an article in Lipservice. I am a mother of a son who is in Gurnee boys' baseball. I did inquire why birth certificates were needed this year. They told me that older boys were playing down one level. According to Pony Rules, any boy can move up a level. Somebody should get their facts straight. The coaches for Gurnee boys' baseball are doing a great job.

Likes Libertyville News

I'm new to the Libertyville area and I picked up a copy of the Libertyville News. I wanted to call to let you know how much I enjoyed finding out about all the local news and information in my community. I was especially interested in finding out about the school system and the possibility of more children coming to the school district. I would also like to applaud you for your Lipservice column; it is one of the more unique features I've ever seen.

Tired Of Food?

I have lived in Wauconda 37 years. When I moved here, we had a dry goods store. At Christmas or birthdays, you could go to town and get anything you want. Now, you have to go eight to 10 miles for any item of clothing, three miles for milk or bread. We have lots of homes and people, but no decent stores. The only thing we have a lot of is restaurants.

Sorry To Say Goodbye

I'm calling to tell all the people at Sears in Fox Lake that they'll be missed. I read Lipservice every week and I'm very surprised that nobody said anything about this. I don't know about other people, but my wife and I will miss you, others and the store. Sorry to see you go. We wish you good luck.

Who Do You Think It Is?

I'm from Lake Villa and I would like to address the issue of our town and Lindenhurst building its own high school so Antioch wouldn't have a $1.5 million deficit. Who do you think is paying taxes toward the high school's bonds?

Not A Racial Issue

I would like to make a few comments regarding the dissolution of North Chicago Dist. 187. I have read with much concern of many remarks. Now, it seems that the racial end of it is being brought into focus. I would like to remind everybody that this dissolution is not set in stone. The North Chicago School Board has to submit a petition to the Lake County Regional Board of School Trustees, who must act one way or another. Until that is done, I wish people would stop bringing up racial comments. Nothing will be done until this summer. I'm from Antioch.
